(1) Firearm traces are designed to assist law enforcement authorities in conducting investigations by tracking the sale and possession of specific firearms. Law enforcement agencies may request firearms traces for any reason, and those reasons are not necessarily reported to the Federal Government. Not all firearms used in crime are traced and not all firearms traced are used in crime.

(2) Firearms selected for tracing are not chosen for purposes of determining which types, makes, or models of firearms are used for illicit purposes. The firearms selected do not constitute a random sample and should not be considered representative of the larger universe of all firearms used by criminals, or any subset of that universe. Firearms are normally traced to the first retail seller, and sources reported for firearms traced do not necessarily represent the sources or methods by which firearms in general are acquired for use in crime.

SEC. 517. The results shall be made available in redacted form to exclude—

(1) any matter described in section 552(b) of title 5, United States Code; and

(2) sensitive personal information for any individual, the public access to which could be used to commit identity theft or for other inappropriate or unlawful purposes.

(c) A grant or contract funded by amounts appropriated by this Act may not be used for the purpose of defraying the costs of a banquet or conference that is not directly and programatically related to the purpose for which the grant or contract was awarded, such as a banquet or conference held in connection with planning, training, assessment, review, or other routine purposes related to a project funded by the grant or contract.

(d) Any person awarded a grant or contract funded by amounts appropriated by this Act shall submit a statement to the Secretary of Commerce, the Attorney General, the Administrator, Director, or President, as appropriate, certifying that no funds derived from the grant or contract will be made available through a subcontract or in any other manner to another person who has a financial interest in the person awarded the grant or contract.

tions (International Trafficking in Arms Regulations (ITAR), part 121, as it existed on April 1, 2005) with a total value not exceeding $500 wholesale in any transaction, provided that the conditions of subsection (b) of this section are met by the exporting party for such articles.

(b) The foregoing exemption from obtaining an export license—

(1) does not exempt an exporter from filing any Shipper's Export Declaration or notification letter required by law, or from being otherwise eligible under the laws of the United States to possess, ship, transport, or export the articles enumerated in subsection (a); and

(2) does not permit the export without a license of—

(A) fully automatic firearms and components and parts for such firearms, other than for end use by the Federal Government, or a Provincial or Municipal Government of Canada;

(B) barrels, cylinders, receivers (frames) or complete breech mechanisms for any firearm listed in Category I, other than for end use by the Federal Government, or a Provincial or Municipal Government of Canada; or

(C) articles for export from Canada to another foreign destination.

(c) In accordance with this section, the District Directors of Customs and postmasters shall permit the permanent or temporary export without a license of any unclassified articles specified in subsection (a) to Canada for end use in Canada or return to the United States, or temporary import of Canadian-origin items from Canada for end use in the United States or return to Canada for a Canadian citizen.

The President shall terminate the requirements of a license when reasons for the temporary requirements have ceased.

SEC. 521. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no department, agency, or instrumentality of the United States receiving appropriated funds under this Act or any other Act shall obligate or expend in any way such funds to pay administrative expenses or the compensation of any officer or employee of the United States to deny any application submitted pursuant to 22 U.S.C. 2778(b)(1)(B) and qualified pursuant to 27 CFR section 478.112 or .113, for a permit to import United States origin "curios or relics" firearms, parts, or ammunition.

SEC. 525. Funds appropriated by this Act, or made available by the transfer of funds in this Act, for intelligence or intelligence related activities are deemed to be specifically authorized by the Congress for purposes of section 504 of the National Security Act of 1947 (50 U.S.C. 414) during fiscal year 2010 until the enactment of the Intelligence Authorization Act for fiscal year 2010.

SEC. 747. (a) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section the following definitions apply:

(1) The term "covered manufacturer" means—
(A) an automobile manufacturer in which the United States Government has an ownership interest, or to which the Government has provided financial assistance under title I of the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008; or

(B) an automobile manufacturer which acquired more than half of the assets of an automobile manufacturer in which the United States Government has an ownership interest, or to which the Government has provided financial assistance under title I of the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008.

(2) The term "covered dealership" means an automobile dealership that had a franchise agreement for the sale and service of vehicles of a brand or brands with a covered manufacturer in effect as of October 3, 2008, and such agreement was terminated, not assigned in the form existing on October 3, 2008 to another covered manufacturer in connection with an acquisition of assets related to the manufacture of that vehicle brand or brands, not renewed, or not continued during the period beginning on October 3, 2008, and ending on December 31, 2010.

(b) A covered dealership that was not lawfully terminated under applicable State law on or before April 29, 2009, shall have the right to seek, through binding arbitration, continuation, or reinstatement of a franchise agreement, or to be added as a franchisee to the dealer network of the covered manufacturer in the geographical area where the covered dealership was located when its franchise agreement was terminated, not assigned, not renewed, or not continued. Such continuation, reinstatement, or addition shall be limited to each brand owned and manufactured by the covered manufacturer at the time the arbitration commences, to the extent that the covered dealership had been a dealer for such brand at the time such dealer's franchise agreement was terminated, not assigned, not renewed, or not continued.

(c) Before the end of the 30-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act, a covered manufacturer shall provide to each covered dealership related to such covered manufacturer a summary of the terms and the rights accorded under this section to a covered dealership and the specific criteria pursuant to which such dealer was terminated, was not renewed, or was not assumed and assigned to a covered manufacturer.

(d) A covered dealership may elect to pursue the right to binding arbitration with the appropriate covered manufacturer. Such election must occur within 40 days of the date of enactment. The arbitration process must commence as soon as practicable thereafter with the selection of the arbitrator and conclude with the case being submitted to the arbitrator for deliberation within 180 days of the date of enactment of this Act. The arbitrator may extend the time periods in this subsection for up to 30 days for good cause. The covered manufacturer and the covered dealership may present any relevant information during the arbitration. The arbitrator shall balance the economic interest of the covered dealership, the economic interest of the covered manufacturer, and the economic interest of the public at large and shall decide, based on that balancing, whether or not the covered dealership should be added to the dealer network of the covered manufacturer. The factors considered by the arbitrator shall include (1) the covered dealership's profitability in 2006, 2007, 2008, and 2009, (2) the covered manufacturer's overall business plan, (3) the covered dealership's current economic viability, (4) the covered dealership's satisfaction of the performance objectives established pursuant to the applicable franchise agreement, (5) the demographic and geographic characteristics of the covered dealership's market territory, (6) the covered dealership's performance in relation to the criteria used by the covered manufacturer to terminate, not renew, not assume or not assign the covered dealership's franchise agreement, and (7) the length of experience of the covered dealership. The arbitrator shall issue a written determination no later than 7 business days after the arbitrator determines that case has been fully submitted. At a minimum, the written determination shall include (1) a description of the covered dealership, (2) a clear statement indicating whether the franchise agreement at issue is to be renewed, continued, assigned or assumed by the covered manufacturer, (3) the key facts relied upon by the arbitrator in making the determination, and (4) an explanation of how the balance of economic interests supports the arbitrator's determination.

(e) The arbitrator shall be selected from the list of qualified arbitrators maintained by the Regional Office of the American Arbitration Association (AAA), in the Region where the dealership is located, by mutual agreement of the covered dealership and covered manufacturer. If agreement cannot be reached on a suitable arbitrator, the parties shall request AAA to select the arbitrator. There will be no depositions in the proceedings, and discovery shall be limited to requests for documents specific to the covered dealership. The parties shall be responsible for their own expenses, fees, and costs, and shall share equally all other costs associated with the arbitration, such as arbitrator fees, meeting room charges, and administrative costs. The arbitration shall be conducted in the State where the covered dealership is located. Parties will have the option of conducting arbitration electronically and telephonically, by mutual agreement of both parties. The arbitrator shall not award compensatory, punitive, or exemplary damages to any party. If the arbitrator finds in favor of a covered dealership, the covered manufacturer shall as soon as practicable, but not later than 7 business days after receipt of the arbitrator's determination, provide the dealer a customary and usual letter of intent to enter into a sales and service agreement. After executing the sales and service agreement and successfully completing the operational prerequisites set forth therein, a covered dealership shall return to the covered manufacturer any financial compensation provided by the covered manufacturer in consideration of the covered manufacturer's initial determination to terminate, not renew, not assign or not assume the covered dealership's applicable franchise agreement.

(f) Any legally binding agreement resulting from a voluntary negotiation between a covered manufacturer and covered dealership(s) shall not be considered inconsistent with this provision and any covered dealership that is a party to such agreement shall forfeit the right to arbitration established by this provision.

(g) Notwithstanding the requirements of this provision, nothing herein shall prevent a covered manufacturer from lawfully terminating a covered dealership in accordance with applicable State law.

CONGRESSIONAL DIRECTIVES

The language and allocations set forth in the House report (House Report 111-218) and Senate report (Senate Report 111-69) should be complied with unless specifically addressed to the contrary in the conference report and the statement of the managers. Report language included by the House, which is not changed by the report of the Senate or this statement of managers, and Senate report language, which is not changed by this statement of managers, is approved by the committee of conference. The statement of the managers, while repeating some report language for emphasis, does not intend to negate the language referred to above unless expressly provided herein. In cases where the House or the Senate has directed the submission of a report, such report is to be submitted to both the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations. The conferees direct the Department of Transportation and the Department of Housing and Urban Development to notify the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations seven days prior to the announcement of a new program or authority.

Planning activities.—The conference agreement allows up to $35,000,000 of the funding provided for surface transportation infrastructure to be used for the planning, preparation or design of eligible projects. This funding will improve the capacity of state, local, and regional governments to develop significant transportation solutions, including innovative and multijurisdictional projects that do not fit easily into existing federal programs. The conferees direct the Secretary of Transportation to provide this funding on a competitive basis.

The conference agreement specifies that services shall be provided on a competitive basis to entities within the Department of Transportation. The conference agreement directs the Department to update the “transparency paper” included in the fiscal year 2010 budget justification and include the updated version in the budget justification for fiscal year 2011.

MINORITY BUSINESS RESOURCE CENTER PROGRAM

The conference agreement provides a total appropriation of $923,000 as proposed by the Senate for the minority business center program, instead of $912,000 as proposed by the House. Within the funds provided $353,000 is for the costs of guaranteed loans for short-term working capital as proposed by the Senate, instead of $342,000 as proposed by the House. In addition, $570,000 is provided for administrative expenses as proposed by the House and Senate. The bill limits loans made under this program to $18,367,000 as proposed by the House and Senate.

MINORITY BUSINESS OUTREACH

The conference agreement provides $3,074,000 for minority business outreach as proposed by the House and Senate and allows funds to be used for business opportunities related to any mode of transportation.

PAYMENTS TO AIR CARRIERS (AIRPORT AND AIRWAY TRUST FUND) (INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

The conference agreement provides $150,000,000 for payments to air carriers instead of $125,000,000 as proposed by the House and the Senate. In addition to these funds, the program will receive $50,000,000 in mandatory spending pursuant to the Federal Aviation Authorization Act of 1996. The funding provided in the conference agreement is necessary to support air service in all eligible communities.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS—OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF TRANSPORTATION

Section 101 prohibits funds in this Act available to the Department of Transportation from being obligated for the Office of the Secretary of Transportation to approve assessments or reimbursable agreements pertaining to funds appropriated to the modal administrations in this Act, except for activities underway on the date of enactment of this Act, unless such assessments or agreements have completed the normal reprogramming process for Congressional notification.

Section 102 prohibits funds from being obligated or expended to establish or implement a program where essential air service communities are required to assume subsidy costs commonly referred to as local participation.

Section 103 allows the Secretary of Transportation or his designee to engage with states to consider proposals related to the reduction of motorcycle fatalities.

Section 104 authorizes the Secretary of Transportation to transfer the unexpended balances available for the bonding assistance program from “Office of the Secretary, Salaries and Expenses” to “Minority Business Outreach”.

Section 105 allows funds provided for the Transportation Planning, Research, and Development program to be used for the development, coordination, and analysis of data collection procedures and national performance measures. Data analysis is a critical part of informing transportation decision-making and reaching national priorities such as safety, economic accessibility, congestion reduction, network utility, reduced energy use, and environmental protection. The conferees encourage the Secretary to work with States and Metropolitan Planning Organizations in order to understand the resources they would need to collect and report accurate data on system performance.

FEDERAL AVIATION ADMINISTRATION OPERATIONS (AIRPORT AND AIRWAY TRUST FUND) (INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

The conference agreement includes $9,350,028,000 for operations of the Federal Aviation Administration instead of $9,347,168,000 as proposed by the House and $9,359,131,000 as proposed by the Senate. Of the total amount provided, $4,000,000,000 is to be derived from the airport and airway trust fund. Funds are distributed in the bill by budget activity.

The following table compares the conference agreement to the levels proposed in the House and Senate bills by budget activity:

Controller staffing.—The conference agreement includes $7,299,299,000 for the air traffic organization instead of $7,300,739,000 as proposed by the House and $7,305,902,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conference agreement provides funding for a minimum of 15,692 air traffic controllers. The conferees note that the FAA and its controller workforce reached a mutual agreement on a three-year labor contract. The conferees expect the FAA to honor the terms of the agreement within its existing resources.

The conferees also believe in the importance of maintaining adequate experience levels at each air traffic control facility. Therefore, the conferees direct the FAA to provide a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations with facility-by-facility targets against which actual experience levels can be measured.

Contract tower program.—The conference agreement includes $116,700,000 for the contract tower base program and $9,500,000 for the contract tower cost-sharing program. In addition, the FAA is permitted to use unsubscribed funds from the contract tower base line program to avoid elimination of communities from the cost share towers program, but only after all base line tower obligations have been fulfilled.

RNAV/RNP procedures.—Within the amounts provided for the air traffic organization, $35,130,000 is included for RNAV/RNP procedures. FAA is directed to provide a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations by February 15, 2010 which describes every procedure that will be developed with fiscal year 2010 funds, including quantifiable data comparing flight time; flight distance; and estimated fuel, emissions and environmental benefits compared to existing procedures. The report should include information on which office or region requested the procedure and the anticipated development time.

Southern California TRACON.—The conferees direct the FAA to submit a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 60 days of enactment on the Southern California TRACON as articulated in Senate Report 111–69.

Aviation safety (AVS).—The conference agreement provides $1,234,065,000 for aviation safety, which includes an increase of $9,500,000 for additional flight standards inspectors and related safety staff and an increase of $4,500,000 for additional aircraft certification inspectors and related safety staff.

FACILITIES AND EQUIPMENT

(AIRPORT AND AIRWAY TRUST FUND)

The conference agreement includes $2,936,203,000 for FAA facilities and equipment instead of $2,925,202,000 as proposed by the House and $2,942,352,000 as proposed by the Senate. Of the total amount available, $470,000,000 is available until September 30, 2010, and $2,466,203,000 is available until September 30, 2012. The bill includes language directing FAA to transmit a detailed five-year capital investment plan to Congress with its fiscal year 2011 budget submission.

FEDERAL HIGHWAY ADMINISTRATION

LIMITATION ON ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES (INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

The conference agreement limits obligations for administrative expenses of the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) to $413,533,000, as proposed by the House instead of $415,396,000 as proposed by the Senate. The conference agreement also includes language to make $3,524,000 in contract authority above this limitation available to the Office of Inspector General (OIG) to conduct audits and investigations related to the FHWA and $285,000 in contract authority above this limitation available for the OIG's annual audit of the FHWA's financial statements. In addition, the conferees provide $3,220,000 in contract authority above the limitation available for the administrative expenses of the Appalachian Regional Commission in accordance with section 104 of title 23, United States Code.

Improving bridge safety.—The conferees expect the FHWA to make more significant progress in improving its oversight of bridge conditions and safety over the course of fiscal year 2010. In order to ensure that the agency has the staff necessary to conduct more rigorous oversight of bridges, the conferees direct the FHWA to use $5,000,000 of the funds provided to hire additional personnel at the agency headquarters and in the division offices with the responsibility to oversee bridge safety.

In addition, the conferees direct the Inspector General to evaluate the FHWA's progress in fulfilling each of the recommendations given in his report on the national bridge inspection program (Report Number MH-2009-013) and to submit a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations with his findings no later than April 30, 2010.

Ensuring the success of mass evacuations.—The conferees direct the Department of Transportation (DOT), in cooperation with the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), to assess mass evacuation plans for the country's most high-threat, high-density areas and identify and prioritize deficiencies on those routes that could impede evacuations. The conferees also direct DOT, in cooperation with DHS and the Office of the National Capital Region Coordination, to conduct an analysis of how national highway system projects under construction west of the National Capital Region (NCR) could increase the NCR's evacuation capacity and provide a detailed plan to accelerate such projects. DOT shall submit its report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations no later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act.

The conference agreement specifies that the Federal share payable on each program, project, or activity shall be 100 percent, however, the conferees recognize the importance of a local match as a sign of local support for the project. In addition, the conference agreement allows funds to be transferred to another Federal agency if so requested by a State.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS—FEDERAL HIGHWAY ADMINISTRATION

Section 120 retains the provision as proposed by the House and the Senate that distributes the federal-aid highways program obligation limitation.

Section 121 retains the provision as proposed by the House and the Senate that allows funds received by the Bureau of Transportation Statistics from the sale of data products to be credited to the federal-aid highways account.

Section 122 includes a provision similar to language proposed by the Senate that appropriates an additional $650,000,000 for highway infrastructure. The conference agreement distributes this funding to the States in the same proportion as the fiscal year 2010 obligation limitation to be used for activities eligible under the Surface Transportation Program. Bill language is included that specifies that each program, project, and activity funded under this section shall be administered under the planning, environmental, and other Federal rules required under title 23, United States Code, and that the Federal share payable on each program, project, or activity shall be 80 percent. The House bill contained no similar provision.

Section 123 retains the provision as proposed by the Senate that provides requirements for any waiver of Buy American requirements. The House bill contained no similar provision.

Section 124 retains the provision as proposed by the House and the Senate that prohibits tolling in Texas, with exceptions.

Section 125 retains the provision as proposed by the House that clarifies funding for various projects which were included in previous appropriations Acts. The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

Section 126 retains the provision as proposed by the Senate that clarifies funding for a project in Rhode Island which was included in section 1702 of Public Law 109-59. The House bill contained no similar provision.

Section 127 retains the provision as proposed by the Senate that clarifies funding for a project in Florida which was included in section 1702 of Public Law 109-59. The House bill contained no similar provision.

FEDERAL MOTOR CARRIER SAFETY ADMINISTRATION

MOTOR CARRIER SAFETY OPERATIONS AND PROGRAMS

(LIQUIDATION OF CONTRACT AUTHORIZATION) (LIMITATION ON OBLIGATIONS) (HIGHWAY TRUST FUND)

The conference agreement includes a liquidation of contract authorization and a limitation on obligations of $239,828,000 for the operating expenses of and motor carrier safety research by the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA), as proposed by the House instead of $238,500,000 as proposed by the Senate. Of this limitation, $8,543,000 is to remain available for obligation until September 30, 2012, as proposed by the Senate. The conference agreement provides funding in the following manner:

Program	Funding
Operating expenses .....	$183,051,000
Research and technology ...	8,543,000
Information management .....	34,722,000
Regulatory development ...	9,728,000
Outreach and education ....	2,784,000
Commercial motor vehicle operators grants .....	1,000,000
Total .....	239,828,000

The conference agreement prohibits any funds relating to outreach and education from being transferred to another agency, as proposed by both the House and the Senate.

High risk carriers.—The conferees include bill language, as proposed by both the House and the Senate, that directs the FMCSA to report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations on the agency's progress in meeting the requirement to conduct compliance reviews on high risk carriers. The reports are due March 30, 2010, and September 30, 2010, as proposed by the House.

On board data recorders.—The conferees urge the FMCSA to issue its final rule on the use of electric on board data recorders (EOBR) to collect and maintain data on driver hours of service and accident conditions as soon as possible. Furthermore, the conferees direct the FMCSA to report to the House and the Senate Committees on Appropriation within 90 days after the enactment of this Act on the specific actions the agency will take to incentivize industry-wide use of EOBR and the metrics that will be used to measure the adoption of EOBRs installation. In addition, the conferees direct the FMCSA to report by October 1, 2010, on the success of the agency's efforts to incentivize EOBR adoption, including a review of the agency's metrics.

Research and technology education.—The conferees are encouraged by the FMCSA's efforts to target research and technology funding towards safety technologies that promise to reduce fatalities and improve safety. However, the conferees believe that the FMCSA should more aggressively promote these safety technologies and, therefore, direct the FMCSA to dedicate a portion of its education and outreach budget, as appropriate, to educating motor carrier operators on available safety technologies and promote those most likely to result in meaningful safety benefits.

MOTOR CARRIER SAFETY GRANTS (LIQUIDATION OF CONTRACT AUTHORIZATION) (LIMITATION ON OBLIGATIONS) (HIGHWAY TRUST FUND) (INCLUDING RESCISSION)

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISION—FEDERAL MOTOR
CARRIER SAFETY ADMINISTRATION

Section 135 retains the provision proposed by both the House and the Senate that subjects funds appropriated in this Act to the terms and conditions of section 350 of Public Law 107-87 and section 6901 of Public Law 110-28, including that the Secretary submit a report on Mexico-domiciled motor carriers.

NATIONAL HIGHWAY TRAFFIC SAFETY ADMINISTRATION

OPERATIONS AND RESEARCH

The conference agreement provides $140,427,000 from the general fund for highway and traffic safety activities, instead of $131,986,000 as proposed by the House and $135,803,000 as proposed by the Senate. Of this amount, a total of $35,543,000 shall remain available until September 30, 2011.

OPERATIONS AND RESEARCH

(LIQUIDATION OF CONTRACT AUTHORIZATION)
(LIMITATION ON OBLIGATIONS)
(HIGHWAY TRUST FUND)

The conference agreement provides an appropriation for liquidating cash of contract authorization of $105,500,000 from the highway trust fund for payment of obligations incurred in carrying out the provisions of the highway safety research and development program as authorized by section 403 of title 23, United States Code, as proposed by the Senate instead of $108,642,000 as proposed by the House. The conference agreement specifies that the funds are available until expended, as proposed by both the House and the Senate.

The conference agreement limits obligations from the highway trust fund to $105,500,000 for authorized activities associated with the highway safety research and development program, as proposed by the Senate instead of $108,642,000 as proposed by the House. Of this limitation, a total of $26,908,000 shall remain available until September 30, 2011, and shall be in addition to any limitation imposed on obligations in future fiscal years, as proposed by the House.

The following table summarizes the total funding level provided in the conference agreement for operations and research (general fund and highway trust fund combined) by budget activity.

time equivalent staff years. The conferees note that NHTSA currently has 527 full-time equivalent staff years on-board because the agency has hired additional personnel in advance of its appropriation for fiscal year 2010. The conferees direct the agency to refrain from this practice in the future and encourage the agency to provide better justification for any additional positions in future budget requests.

The conference agreement includes separate obligation limitations for each of the agency's safety grant programs and specifies that the limitation provided for safety belt performance grants shall remain available until September 30, 2011, and shall be in addition to any limitation imposed on obligations in future fiscal years, as proposed by both the House and the Senate.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS—NATIONAL

years from limitations on obligations for the current year.

Section 142 retains the provision proposed by the Senate that rescinds unobligated contract authority authorized from the highway trust fund for NHTSA's operation and research activities that will not be available for obligation because of limitations on obligations imposed on those funds in previous acts. The House bill contained no similar provision.

Section 143 retains the provision proposed by the Senate that rescinds unobligated contract authority authorized from the highway trust fund for NHTSA's highway safety grant programs that will not be available for obligation because of limitations on obligations imposed on those funds in previous acts. ##### RAILROAD SAFETY TECHNOLOGY PROGRAM

The conference agreement provides $50,000,000 to implement the railroad safety technology program authorized in the Rail Safety Improvement Act of 2008 as proposed by the Senate. The House did not propose funding for this account. The conference agreement provides that to be eligible for assistance, an entity need not have developed plans required under 49 U.S.C. 20156(e)(2) and 20157. However, in order to qualify for a grant under this program, all applicants must demonstrate that they are currently developing the required plans.

CAPITAL ASSISTANCE FOR HIGH SPEED RAIL CORRIDORS AND INTERCITY PASSENGER RAIL SERVICE

The conference agreement provides $2,500,000,000 for grants to support intercity rail service and high speed rail corridors instead of $4,000,000,000 as proposed by the House and $1,200,000,000 as proposed by the Senate.

Additional High-Speed Rail Projects.—Section 502 of the Passenger Rail Investment and Improvement Act of 2008 authorized a program to establish public-private partnerships in high-speed rail development in eleven specific corridors. The conference agreement does not specifically include $5,000,000 for this purpose as proposed by the House. However, the conferees urge the Secretary and FRA to meet the intent of advancing high speed rail along the eleven named corridors through the funds provided in this and other Acts.

Infrastructure Bank.—The conferees delete language proposed by the House which allowed high speed rail funds to be transferred for the creation of a National Infrastructure Bank if authorized prior to September 30, 2010. The Administration proposed the creation of a National Infrastructure Bank as a potential financing mechanism for a broad range of infrastructure needs including, within the realm of transportation, intermodal freight and passenger facilities; port infrastructure projects; public-private partnerships; and aircraft equipment requirements associated with the implementation of NextGen aviation technology. The conferees support strong investment in transportation infrastructure. However, given that this is a new and complex endeavor, the conferees believe that this proposal requires careful review and should be considered through the normal authorization process.

NATIONAL RAILROAD PASSENGER CORPORATION (AMTRAK)

The conference agreement provides a total of $1,564,625,000 for the operations, capital improvements and debt service to the National Railroad Passenger Corporation (Amtrak).

OPERATING GRANTS TO THE NATIONAL RAILROAD PASSENGER CORPORATION

OIG savings reports.—The conference agreement modifies the House and Senate bills and requires the Department of Transportation (DOT) IG to provide semiannual reports to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations on the estimated savings accrued as a result of all operation reforms instituted by Amtrak as well as any possibilities for future savings.

Business plan.—The conference agreement modifies language included in the House and Senate bills and requires Amtrak to provide semiannual reports in electronic format regarding the pending business plan as well as progress against the milestones and target dates contained in its financial performance improvement plan provided in fiscal year 2009.

Reduced fares.—The conference agreement directs Amtrak to report semi-annually on fares reduced by fifty percent or more from the normal, peak fare rather than quarterly as proposed by the House.

Human emulation technology.—The conference agreement provides $3,000,000 for Amtrak to deploy and study the use of human emulation technology rather than $5,000,000 as was proposed by the Senate. The House did not provide funding for this purpose.

CAPITAL AND DEBT SERVICE GRANTS TO THE NATIONAL RAILROAD PASSENGER CORPORATION

The conference agreement provides $1,001,625,000 for capital and debt service payment grants to Amtrak as proposed by the Senate, instead of $929,625,000 as proposed by the House. Such funds are available until expended, as proposed by the Senate. Within the funds provided, the conference agreement includes $264,000,000 for Amtrak's debt service payment as proposed by the House and the Senate. The agreement modifies the Senate bill and requires that grants made after the first $200,000,000 be provided only on a reimbursable basis.

Americans with Disabilities Act.—Under its six-year plan for compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), Amtrak would invest $144,000,000 during fiscal year 2010 for necessary capital investments. The conferees direct Amtrak to maintain this plan for complying with the requirements of ADA. The conferees also direct Amtrak to provide quarterly status reports on its ADA improvements and progress on the six-year plan.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS—FEDERAL RAILROAD ADMINISTRATION

Section 151 retains a provision that permits FRA to purchase promotional items for Operation Lifesaver as proposed by the House and Senate.

Section 152 retains a provision that ceases the availability of Amtrak funds if the railroad contracts for services outside the United States for any service performed by a full-time or part-time Amtrak employee as of July 1, 2006 as proposed by the House and Senate.

Section 153 retains a provision that allows FRA to receive and use cash or spare parts to repair, and replace damaged track inspection cars as proposed by the House and Senate.

Section 154 requires the FRA Administrator to submit quarterly reports to the Committees on Appropriations on Amtrak on-time performance as proposed by the House and Senate.

Section 155 clarifies funding for a project in California provided in the FY 2009 Appropriations Act, as proposed by the House.

Section 156 clarifies funding for a project in New York provided in the FY 2008 Appropriations Act, as proposed by the Senate.

Section 159 modifies a provision proposed by the Senate requiring Amtrak to allow the transportation of firearms and ammunition in checked baggage.

ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $98,911,000 for the administrative expenses of the Federal Transit Administration (FTA) instead of $97,478,000 as proposed by the House and Senate. The conference agreement specifies that no more than $1,809,000 shall be provided for travel.

The conference agreement directs FTA's operating plan to include a specific allocation of administrative expenses resources, including a delineation of full time equivalent employees, as proposed by the House. The conference agreement also requires transfers exceeding 5 percent to be approved by the House and Senate Appropriations Committees through the reprogramming process as proposed by the Senate.

FORMULA AND BUS GRANTS (LIQUIDATION OF CONTRACT AUTHORITY) (LIMITATION ON OBLIGATIONS) (HIGHWAY TRUST FUND)

The conference agreement limits obligations from the Mass Transit Account for the formula and bus grant program to $8,343,171,000 as proposed by the House and Senate. The conferees acknowledge that the specific programmatic distribution of formula and bus grant funds will be determined through legislation extending or reauthorizing the surface transportation programs. The conference agreement includes a liquidating cash appropriation of $9,400,000,000.

Section 160 exempts previously made transit obligations from limitations on obligations as proposed by the House and Senate.

Section 161 allows funds provided in this Act for (1) projects under "Capital Investment Grants" and (2) bus and bus facilities under "Formula and Bus Grants" that remain unobligated by September 30, 2012 to be available for projects eligible to use the funds for the purposes for which they were originally provided, as proposed by the House and Senate.

Section 162 allows for the transfer of appropriations made prior to October 1, 2009 from older accounts to be merged into new accounts with similar current activities as proposed by the House and Senate.

Section 163 allows unobligated funds in prior year appropriations for new fixed guideway systems under "FTA—capital investment grants" to be used in the current fiscal year to satisfy expenses for activities eligible in the year the funds were appropriated as proposed by the House and Senate.

Section 164 allows FTA to provide grants for 90 percent of the net capital cost of a factory-installed or retrofitted hybrid electric bus system and provides that the Secretary shall have the discretion to determine the costs attributable to the system and related equipment as proposed by the House.

Section 165 requires unobligated funds or recoveries under 49 U.S.C. 5309 that are available for reallocation shall be directed to projects eligible to use the funds for which they were originally intended as proposed by the House.

Section 166 modifies a provision proposed by the House that allows funds in previous Appropriations Acts for projects in Florida, New Jersey and Arizona to be used for other transit purposes.

Section 167 provides funds for Alaska or Hawaii ferry boats or ferry terminal facilities pursuant to 49 U.S.C. 5309(m)(2)(B) may be used to construct new vessels and facilities, or to improve existing vessels and facilities as proposed by the Senate. No more than $4,000,000 of the funds may be used by the City and County of Honolulu to operate a passenger ferry boat and other technologies.

The conferees understand that the first phase of the Woodward Avenue Corridor project will meet all of the existing federal requirements including environmental reviews, prevailing wage, disadvantage business enterprise and Buy American.

Section 169 requires the Secretary provide recommendations, including legislative proposals, on how to strengthen DOT's role in regulating the safety of transit agencies operating heavy rail on fixed guideway as proposed by the Senate. The recommendations shall include actions DOT will take and what legislative authority will be needed to address NTSB safety recommendations. DOT is directed to provide the report with recommendations and an implementation plan to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, the House Transportation and Infrastructure Committee and the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee within 45 days of enactment.

Section 170 prohibits reallocation of SAFETEA-LU funding for three transit projects in Connecticut as proposed by the Senate.

Section 171 modifies a provision proposed by the Senate which extends FTA's contingent commitment authority for Fiscal Year 2010.

Section 172 modifies a provision proposed by the Senate regarding the enforcement of the charter bus rule for an area in Washington State. The conference agreement directs the Office of Inspector General to study the effect of charter tour regulations on quality and price of transit services.

Section 173 permanently allows the local share calculations for New Start projects that are part of interstate multi-modal projects on interstate highway corridors to include all local funds in the project's financial plan as proposed by the Senate.

DIVISION B—COMMERCE, JUSTICE, SCIENCE AND RELATED AGENCIES

The language and allocations contained in House Report 111-149 and Senate Report 111-34 should be complied with unless specifically addressed to the contrary in the conference report and statement of managers. The statement of managers, while repeating some report language for emphasis, does not intend to negate the language referred to above unless expressly provided herein. In cases where both the House and Senate reports address a particular issue not specifically addressed in the conference report or joint statement of managers, the conferees have determined the House report and the Senate report are not inconsistent and are to be interpreted accordingly, in cases where the House or Senate report directs the submission of a report, such report is to be submitted in both the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations.

The conferees expect that each department and agency funded in this Act shall follow the directions set forth in this Act and the accompanying report, and shall not reallocate resources or reorganize activities except as provided herein. Reprogramming procedures shall apply to funds provided in this Act, unobligated balances from previous appropriations Acts that are available for obligation or expenditure in fiscal year 2010, and non-appropriated resources such as fee collections that are used to meet program requirements in fiscal year 2010. In reiterating the reprogramming procedures here, which are codified as section 505 of this Act, the conferees expect that the Appropriations Subcommittees on Commerce, Justice, Science and Related Agencies of the House and Senate shall be notified by letter a minimum of 15 days prior to—

(1) Reprogramming of funds, whether permanent or temporary, in excess of $500,000 or 10 percent, whichever is less, between programs or activities. This provision is also applicable in cases where several activities are involved with each receiving less than $500,000. In addition, the Committees are to be notified of reprogramming actions which are less than these amounts if such actions would be the effect of committing the agency to significant funding requirements in future years;

(2) Increasing funds or personnel by any means for any project or activity for which funds have been denied or restricted;

(3) Relocating offices or employees;

(4) Reorganizing offices, programs, or activities;

(5) Contracting out or privatizing any functions or activities presently performed by Federal employees; or

(6) Proposing to use funds directed for a specific activity by either the House or the Senate for a different purpose.

Furthermore, the reprogramming authorities do not allow the obligation of funds to create or initiate any new program, project or activity.

Any reprogramming request shall include any out-year budgetary impacts and a separate accounting of program or mission impacts on estimated carryover funds. No changes shall be made to any program, project or activity, except as provided by the Committees, if it is to be construed to be a change in policy. Any program, project or activity cited in the reports of the House or Senate accompanying this Act or the conference agreement shall be construed as the position of the conference and shall not be subject to reductions or reprogramming without prior approval of the Committees. The conferees further expect any department or agency funded in this Act which plans a reduction-in-force to notify by letter the Appropriations Committees of the House and Senate 30 days in advance of the date of any such planned personnel action.

The conferees note that when a department or agency submits a reprogramming or transfer request to the Appropriations Committees of the House and Senate and does not receive identical responses by the House and Senate, it shall be the responsibility of the department or agency seeking the reprogramming to reconcile the difference between the two bodies before proceeding. If reconciliation is not possible, the items in disagreement in the reprogramming or transfer request shall be considered unapproved.

The conferees direct the Departments of Commerce and Justice, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the National Science Foundation to submit spending plans, signed by the respective department or agency head, for the Committees' review within 60 days of enactment of this Act.

TITLE I

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

INTERNATIONAL TRADE ADMINISTRATION
OPERATIONS AND ADMINISTRATION

The conference agreement provides $456,204,000 in total resources for the programs of the International Trade Administration (ITA) for fiscal year 2010, which includes $9,439,000 in offsetting fee collections.

The conferees understand the difficulties of attempting to balance the positive and negative effects of a free trade agenda. The conferees are determined to ensure that the United States Government upholds its responsibility to enforce trade laws, particularly with China. If trading partners do not abide by the rules that are set in the global trading system, United States firms are unable to compete on a level playing field. The United States Government has an obligation to ensure that U.S. companies are not forced to compete with foreign companies that are engaged in unfair trading practices.

The conferees direct ITA to submit to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, not later than 60 days after the enactment of this Act, a spending plan for all ITA units that incorporates any carryover balances from prior fiscal years and expect this plan to be updated to reflect the obligation of funds on a quarterly basis.

China anti-dumping and countervailing duty activities.—The conference agreement designates funding of no less than $7,000,000 for the Office of China Compliance, and no less than $4,400,000 for the China Countervailing Duty Group within Import Administration. The conferees also encourage ITA to allocate additional resources above the request to the activities of both these offices.

Travel expenditures.—The conferees continue to direct the Department to submit quarterly reports to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations regarding ITA's travel expenditures, including separate breakouts of funding, number of trips and the purposes of travel to both China and India.

Human rights training.—The conference agreement directs ITA to devote no less than $500,000 from Executive Direction and Administration funds to ensure that American commercial officers and locally-engaged staff receive human rights training and to ensure that, when counseling U.S. businesses on market conditions with a particular country, employees include information on human rights, rule of law, and corporate responsibility. In addition, ITA shall report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations not later than 60 days after the enactment of this Act with an annual human rights training plan.

Facilitating exports with China.—The conferees direct that not later than 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Commerce shall submit to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations a report on the status of the current program and the feasibility of providing additional assistance to small- and medium-sized businesses to facilitate U.S. exports to China. The report shall include, but is not limited to the Department's ability to provide small- and medium-sized businesses with: (1) assistance to find and utilize Federal and private resources to facilitate entering into the market; (2) continuous direct and personal contact with businesses that have entered the market; (3) assistance to resolve disputes with the Government of the United States or China relating to intellectual property rights violations, export restrictions, and additional trade barriers; (4) the location and recruitment of businesses to enter the market; (5) trade missions; and (6) consolidation of fees charged by the Department for Gold Key matching services provided for businesses that export goods or services produced in the United States to more than one market in China. The report shall include cost estimates for any additional services not currently provided, the effect of any fee reductions, and the number of additional personnel required.

Anti-dumping and countervailing duties study.—The conferees direct the Secretary of Commerce to work with the Secretaries of the Departments of Homeland Security and the Treasury to conduct an analysis and report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, within 180 days of enactment of this Act, on the relative advantages and disadvantages of prospective and retrospective anti-dumping and countervailing duty systems. The report should address the extent to which each type of system would likely achieve the goals of remedying injurious dumping or subsidized exports, minimize uncollected duties, reduce incentives and opportunities for importers to evade anti-dumping and countervailing duties, effectively target high-risk importers, address the impact of retrospective rate increases on U.S. importers and their employees, and create a minimal administrative burden.

Appalachian-Turkish Trade Project.—The conferees continue to recognize the importance of trade and investment opportunities to the Appalachian Region, and are encouraged by the findings in reports that Appalachian firms could find significant trade and investment opportunities, particularly in the energy, hardwood, high technology, and transportation sectors, in the Republic of Turkey and the surrounding region. In this regard, the conferees support the Appalachian-Turkish Trade Project (ATTP), a project to promote opportunities to expand trade, encourage business interests, stimulate foreign studies, and build a lasting and mutually meaningful relationship between Appalachian states and the Republic of Turkey, as well as neighboring countries in the region, such as Greece. The conferees expect the Commercial Service to continue to be a prominent ATTP sponsor.

World Trade Organization.—The conferees are aware of the World Trade Organization (WTO) Appellate Body's January 16, 2003, ruling regarding the Continued Dumping and Subsidy Offset Act. The conferees direct the Department of Commerce, in consultation with the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative, to conduct negotiations within the WTO to seek express recognition of the existing right of WTO Members to distribute monies collected from anti-dumping and countervailing duties as they deem appropriate. The agency shall consult with and provide regular reports, every 60 days, to the Appropriations Committees of the House and Senate on such negotiations.

In addition, the conferees direct that negotiations be conducted within the WTO consistent with the negotiating objectives contained in the Trade Act of 2002, to maintain strong U.S. trade remedies laws, prevent overreaching by WTO Panels and the WTO Appellate Body, and prevent the creation of obligations never negotiated or agreed to by the United States.

U.S. Foreign Commercial Service (USFCS).—The conferees strongly support an increase in the numbers of American and locally-engaged staff available to conduct core commercial activities at overseas posts. The conference agreement includes an increase above the request to enhance such staffing levels. The conferees further request that the Government Accountability Office (GAO) conduct the study described in the Senate report. In addition, the conferees direct the Department of Commerce to submit a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 120 days of enactment of this Act on steps taken to address overseas pay comparability for the USFCS, and how these actions compare with those taken by other departments for foreign service employees.

Within the appropriation, $5,215,000 is provided for the following activities:

International Trade Administration
Congressionally-designated Items
($ in thousands)

Recipient	Project	Amount
Clemson University, Clemson, SC	Textile Research at Clemson University	350
Midwest China Hub Commission, St. Louis, MO	Midwest China Hub Commission	500
National Textile Center, Raleigh, NC	Textile Research	1,800
Philadelphia University, Philadelphia, PA	Textile Research and Development	500
St. Francis University and St. Vincent College, Loretto, PA	St. Francis University Center for Global Competitiveness	350
Textile/Clothing Textile Corporation, Raleigh, NC	Textile Research Programs	965
UC Davis, Davis, CA	Textile Research at UC Davis	250
University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Lincoln, NE	International Trade Scholars Program	500

The conferees direct ITA to refrain from charging administrative costs to these grants and expect that the agency will provide appropriate management and oversight of each grant.

BUREAU OF INDUSTRY AND SECURITY
OPERATIONS AND ADMINISTRATION

The conference agreement provides $100,342,000 for the Bureau of Industry and Security (BIS), and includes requested programmatic increases of $10,000,000 for the cyber espionage and system modernization initiative and $1,800,000 for the weapons of mass destruction (WMD) and improvised explosive devices (IED) nonproliferation initiative.

The conferees are concerned that crime control and law enforcement technologies can be exported to foreign governments and used to abuse human rights. The conferees understand that BIS is currently working to update crime control and law enforcement items contained on the Commerce Control List. In addition, BIS is working on a more complex crime control review to address developing technologies such as biometric identification systems, training simulators, and surveillance systems. The conferees encourage BIS to review thoroughly whether these new technologies can be used by foreign governments to repress basic human rights and to implement quickly appropriate export controls on items with the potential for abuse.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT ADMINISTRATION

The conference agreement provides $293,000,000 for the programs and administrative expenses of the Economic Development Administration (EDA) for fiscal year 2010.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

The conferees provide $255,000,000 for Economic Development Assistance Programs. The conferees expect EDA to use all available carryover and prior year recoveries to the maximum extent possible.

Public Works.—The conference agreement provides $158,280,000 for Public Works. The conferees believe that, given the current economic climate, these funds are critical to local communities and industries faced with increased economic pressures and dislocations in the rapidly changing global economy. EDA is directed to submit future budget requests that maintain the current public works program funding level while increasing funding for regional innovation clusters and small business incubator efforts. Public works remain an integral element of economic development assistance and funding for this critical program should not be limited, particularly in the current economy.

Global Climate Change Mitigation Fund.—Within the funds provided for Public Works, the conference agreement provides no less than $25,000,000 for the Global Climate Change Mitigation Incentive Fund. The conferees emphasize that economic development must address climate change, and direct EDA to expand the program beyond Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) certification, to include renewable energy; energy efficiency; reuse, restoration and recycling; green buildings; the development of green products; the greening of an existing function, process or activity; and the creation or renovation of green buildings. The conferees further direct EDA to provide a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 60 days of enactment of this Act, detailing the scope of the fund, the criteria for approval of fund expenditures, and the methodology EDA will employ when reviewing grants.

Planning.—The conference agreement provides $31,000,000 for planning. The conferees direct the agency to continue to allocate funding to the existing network of Economic Development Districts (EDDs), consistent with the fiscal year 2009 direction.

Technical assistance.—The conference agreement provides $9,800,000 for technical assistance. The conferees direct EDA to compete two additional university centers each year with the additional base funding, with the goal of ensuring that each State has at least one center and that economically distressed communities are not further burdened by the lack of representation and the need to share and stretch resources.

Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA).—The conference agreement provides $15,800,000 for TAA. While the conferees support this program and the recently enacted authorization, EDA must undertake efforts to improve overall organization, implementation and evaluation of its program before significant new investments can be recommended. The conferees therefore direct EDA to institute an evaluative process and use up-to-date economic data before allocating these funds among regional offices. EDA is also directed to provide quarterly reports to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations on the number of firms assisted, how that assistance is quantified, and the value each TAA center adds to the process.

Economic adjustment assistance (EAA).—The conference agreement provides $38,620,000 for EAA.

Regional innovation clusters.—The conferees support the efficiency gains of regional innovation clusters for applicants and the agency; encourage the use of this approach within existing authorities and funding structure; and note that first efforts will include mostly planning grants for communities as they identify local clusters for development. Critical to the success of the cluster approach, however, is coordination and alignment between economic development agencies. EDA is directed to identify appropriate agencies; establish coordination and alignment of priorities, applications, and working relationships; and report this structure to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 90 days of enactment of this Act. EDA is directed to provide quarterly reports on progress and funding awards for the cluster initiative, and to create performance measures for future evaluation.

Small business incubators.—The conferees encourage EDA to continue to fund business incubation efforts as it has in the past through its existing grant programs and budget structure. EDA is also directed to work with other Federal agencies such as the Small Business Administration, the Minority Business Development Agency, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, to develop a coordinated Federal approach for supporting business incubators nationwide rather than creating duplicative activities within these agencies. These programs are available to assist new and existing businesses and should be coordinated and aligned among them and with the regional innovation clusters initiative. Within 90 days of enactment of this Act, EDA shall provide a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations defining the specific needs that EDA proposes to support through emerging business incubators in various communities, providing a matrix of how the various Federal programs currently support these centers, and explaining how future funding would provide beneficial synergy.

Hawaii and the American Pacific.—The conferees are aware of the exceptionally large geographic area of Hawaii and the American Pacific, which is served by the Hawaii Economic Development Administration office and the increasing demands for services in the area, and provide increased staff support for this field office.

Base realignment and closure (BRAC).—The conferees direct EDA, in coordination with the Department of Defense's Office of Economic Adjustment, to submit a report within 60 days of the enactment of this Act. The report shall identify opportunities for coordination and alignment of the two agencies, within current authorities and budget structures, to address the needs of localities designated as military growth and closures communities, including criteria for eligible communities and projects, and foreseeable funding requirements and availability.

Disaster funding.—The conferees encourage EDA to ensure that disaster funding is disbursed in a timely manner.

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $38,000,000 for salaries and expenses. The conferees continue to support EDA's regional offices and reiterate their commitment to continuing the current operational structure with the six regional offices. The conference agreement provides adequate funding to begin filling vacancies within the regional offices, and continues the previous direction to fill vacancies within the regional offices prior to any vacancies within headquarters.

TAA centers database.—The conferees direct the use of fiscal year 2009 carryover funds intended for TAA salaries and expenses to develop a single database for the collection of the data now required of the TAA centers.

Economic development representative (EDR).—The conferees note that some States share an EDR, requiring some EDRs to be responsible for a larger geographic area. The conferees are concerned that the increased territorial burden is impacting the effectiveness of EDR efforts, therefore, the conferees direct the agency to develop a maximum territorial range for each EDR; submit costs associated with re-establishing a single EDR in each State to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 60 days of enactment of this Act; include funding to restore a minimum of one EDR per state in the fiscal year 2011 budget request; and begin implementation with a portion of the resources provided.

MINORITY BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT AGENCY

MINORITY BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT

The conference agreement provides $31,500,000 for the Minority Business Development Agency (MBDA) for fiscal year 2010. Within the appropriation, the conference agreement provides not less than $200,000 for the Office of Native American Business Development. The conferees expect the office to utilize the assistance of the Native American Business Enterprise Centers to help fulfill its obligations to expand business development, trade promotion and tourism opportunities for Indian tribes and other Native American entities. Within the appropriation, $1,100,000 is provided for the congressionally designated activities listed below:

Minority Business Development Agency
Congressionally-designated Items
($ in thousands)

Recipient	Project	Amount
Jamaica Chamber of Commerce, Jamaica, NY	Jamaica Export Center	100
McAllen Economic Development Corporation, McAllen, TX	McAllen Manufacturing Research and Education Park	300
Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians, Choctaw, MS	Choctaw Native American Business Enterprise Center	200
West Liberty State College, West Liberty, WV	Emerging Minority Business Leaders	500

MBDA is directed to work with the recipients to ensure that projects meet the agency's mission, to refrain from charging administrative costs, and to provide appropriate management and oversight.

ECONOMICS AND STATISTICS ADMINISTRATION SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $97,255,000 for the Economics and Statistics Administration.

BUREAU OF THE CENSUS

The conference agreement provides a total operating level of $7,324,731,000 for the Bureau of the Census.

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $259,024,000 for the salaries and expenses of the Bureau of the Census for fiscal year 2010.

PERIODIC CENSUSES AND PROGRAMS

The conference agreement provides a total of $7,065,707,000 for all periodic censuses and related programs in fiscal year 2010.

Field Data Collection Automation (FDCA) Contract replan.—The replan of the FDCA contract resulted in a significant overall increase in the life cycle cost of the decennial census, now estimated at $14,700,000,000. The conferees direct the Census Bureau to provide monthly status reports and obligation rates on this contract and other large contracts related to the 2010 decennial, and include the status of known risks to the success of the decennial. In addition, the conferees direct the Census Bureau to follow the recommendations of the February 2009 Office of Inspector General (OIG) report, including the implementation of a fee evaluation process to ensure that fee awards are truly earned and contractors are incentivized to maximize value for the taxpayer.

Development and reporting of milestones.—The conferees adopt, by reference, report language that accompanies the fiscal year 2008 supplemental appropriations for the Census Bureau regarding the development and reporting of milestones associated with the 2010 census.

Communications.—The conferees direct the Census Bureau to work closely with the advertising provider to ensure that the decennial's outreach activities are targeted to achieve high rates of survey responses in all communities, particularly within hard-to-reach communities.

Paid media.—In order to increase the mail-back response rate, the conferees direct the Census Bureau to allocate sufficient funding to support robust paid media efforts in preparation for the 2010 decennial census, with specific focus on hard-to-reach populations, ensuring these efforts surpass the effectiveness of such efforts in 2000.

Partnership.—The conferees urge the Census Bureau to ensure it hires a diverse pool of employees, particularly for partnership specialist and enumerator positions for the 2010 decennial census. These indigenous workers bring language skills and neighborhood and cultural knowledge to bear on the task, and are thus more likely to be accepted by communities during outreach and non-response follow-up, resulting in a more accurate count. The Census Bureau is also encouraged to strive to maintain a more diverse, full-time workforce, including at the senior management level.

Mileage reimbursement for temporary workers.—The conferees provide sufficient funding to ensure that temporary employees will receive full mileage reimbursement at a rate that is equivalent to that of all Federal employees.

Fingerprinting.—A recent GAO report highlighted flaws in the Bureau's current methods for fingerprinting temporary census workers, a safeguard instituted in the 2010 Decennial. The conferees direct the Bureau to evaluate its procedures and to build on the steps the Bureau is taking to improve employee training and ensure the safety of the public.

Other languages.—The conferees direct the Bureau to provide the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations with updates of its language assistance program on a semi-annual basis, including information on how it will reach and assist respondents who speak Asian, American Indian, Alaska Native, Spanish, and other languages for the ACS and the 2010 decennial census.

Data on small population groups and offshore U.S. jurisdictions.—The conferees direct the Bureau to report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 90 days of enactment of this Act, describing the steps it will take to ensure the availability and accuracy of small population groups data from the ACS and decennial census, and for reporting aggregate data reflecting all citizens of the United States, including Puerto Rico and other offshore jurisdictions.

Additional outreach.—The conferees direct the Bureau to ensure full funding of Census in Schools and adult education materials.

Inspector General recommendations.—The conferees note that the OIG issued three recommendations to promote an accurate address list and contain costs. The conferees are concerned that the Census Bureau has failed to implement these recommendations and thus direct the Census Bureau to report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, within 60 days of enactment of this Act, on the steps it is taking to implement the OIG's recommendations.

Non-decennial programs.—The conference agreement provides $214,581,000 for non-decennial periodic census programs.

NATIONAL TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND INFORMATION ADMINISTRATION

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $19,999,000 for the salaries and expenses of the National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA).

The conference agreement retains language from previous years allowing the Secretary of Commerce to collect reimbursements from other Federal agencies for a portion of the cost of coordination of spectrum management, analysis, and operations. NTIA shall submit a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations no later than June 1, 2010, detailing the collection of reimbursements from other agencies related to spectrum management, analyses, and research.

Preventing contraband cell phone use in prisons.—The conferees are concerned with the increased smuggling of contraband cell phones into State and Federal prisons and the use of such devices by inmates to orchestrate prison-breaks, conduct illegal activity, and harass or intimidate judges, lawyers or former victims. To deter contraband cell phones, States have begun to pursue aggressively smugglers and abettors of inmates; increased efforts to detect contraband phones hidden on prison employees, visitors and inmates; and explored the use of wireless detection and monitoring devices that could help corrections officials identify and prosecute criminal activity.

To help State and Federal correctional authorities address this growing national problem, the conferees direct the National Telecommunications and Information Administration at the Department of Commerce, in coordination with the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Bureau of Prisons and the National Institute of Justice, to develop a plan to investigate and evaluate how wireless jamming, detection and other technologies might be utilized for law enforcement and corrections applications in Federal and State prison facilities. The conferees strongly urge the NTIA, in coordination with the FCC, to investigate and evaluate detection or other technologies that do not pose a risk of negatively affecting commercial wireless and public safety services in areas surrounding prisons.

PUBLIC TELECOMMUNICATIONS FACILITIES, PLANNING AND CONSTRUCTION

The conference agreement provides $20,000,000 for Public Telecommunications Facilities, Planning and Construction (PTFPC). PTFPC has been the primary source for telecommunications infrastructure assistance for public radio and television stations seeking assistance, particularly in under-served rural areas. The budget request proposed to eliminate the PTFPC program in fiscal year 2010, citing funding available through the Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB). The conferees direct that NTIA work with CPB to provide a report that clarifies the funding authorities of the two agencies to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 60 days of enactment of this Act.

UNITED STATES PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $1,887,000,000 for the United States Patent and Trade Office (USPTO) for fiscal year 2010, the same as the revised fee collection projection dated September 17, 2009.

Budget formulation process.—A confluence of factors in fiscal year 2009, including depressed revenues, continuing declines in the patent allowance rate, recent court decisions, and the absence of inflation has highlighted major, unacceptable deficiencies in USPTO's budget formulation and execution processes. USPTO's financial situation in fiscal year 2009, while anomalous, may be repeated again. The decision to rely solely on fee income has removed USPTO from the safety net of the appropriations process and has placed it at the mercy of the economy; it has allowed USPTO to build a boom time infrastructure that it cannot support in an economic downturn. Complicating and contributing to this situation is the fact that USPTO's budget formulation process does not reflect the agency's resource requirements for the relevant fiscal year. Fiscal year 2010 will likely present a new and more daunting set of financial challenges for the agency and achievement of key performance measures will likely continue to decline.

The conferees note that although USPTO is a fee-funded agency, USPTO's budget development process should not be markedly different from other Federal agencies, at least initially. Yet today, the USPTO is unable to produce a clear and concise statement of resources needed to operate independent of the agency's estimate of projected revenues. Whatever advantages the current funding arrangement confers to the agency and its constituencies, the current state of budget formulation, execution and management at the USPTO cannot continue.

USPTO must develop and present a requirements-based budget to ensure transparency to the Congress, the Administration and to USPTO's stakeholders. To convey more fully USPTO's spending requirements, the conferees direct that, in addition to the budget request, the annual USPTO budget submission, beginning with the fiscal year 2011 submission, shall contain the following items, separately identified, for the budget year: (1) an estimate of a current services baseline consistent with the Budget Enforcement Act (BEA) requirements; (2) any changes to that baseline from expected workload changes; (3) any changes from proposed initiatives to improve performance; and (4) any proposed user fee changes and their expected additional revenues needed to fund the budget request.

Provision of fee collection projections.—The conferees direct the UPSTO to provide quarterly reports on its projected fee collection projections and to notify the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations during any month when significant changes in such projections prompt serious concern or require drastic budgetary responses. In addition, the conferees direct the USPTO to provide official revised fee estimates for fiscal year 2011 to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations no later than September 1, 2010.

Reprogramming and spend plan.—The conferees understand that in several recent fiscal years, the USPTO has used excess fee collections in the current year to forward fund requirements in the budget year. The conferees note that the funding appropriated in any fiscal year is intended to fund costs in only that fiscal year. Therefore, funds appropriated in this Act for fiscal year 2010 are provided only for fiscal year 2010 operating costs. The USPTO is required to follow the reprogramming procedures outlined in section 505 of this Act before using excess fee collections to forward fund expenses beyond fiscal year 2010. Any deviations from the funding distribution provided for in this Act, including carryover balances, are subject to the standard reprogramming procedures set forth in section 505 of this Act. In addition, 60 days after enactment of this Act, the USPTO shall submit to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations a spending plan for fiscal year 2010. This spending plan shall incorporate all carryover balances from previous fiscal years, and describe any changes to the patent or trademark fee structure. Any changes from the spending plan shall also be subject to section 505 of this Act.

Patent pendency and backlog.—The conferees remain concerned by the lack of progress toward reducing patent pendency and the overall patent backlog. The increasing backlog is the result of a number of factors, including the significant decrease in number of patents approved; the practical effect of the increasing numbers of requests for continued examination (RCE); and the fact that applicants are filing in more than one jurisdiction.

The Government Accountability Office (GAO) has found that the hiring of additional patent examiners has not been sufficient to reverse the patent pendency and backlog trend and the recent and projected decrease in fee collections makes it clear that the USPTO will not be able to rely on additional hiring as a method to reduce the backlog. The conferees direct USPTO to enhance its efforts to reduce duplication of work already performed by another patent office in a manner that does not compromise the quality of the examination or compromise the sovereignty of the United States. The conferees also direct USPTO to develop and implement strategies to combat the unintended consequences of RCEs and the effect of the drop in patent application approvals. USPTO shall provide a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations on its progress in these areas within 90 days of enactment of this Act.

Patent Examiners.—The conferees are encouraged by the Administration's recent actions to evaluate out-dated and unreasonable productivity goals, but remain concerned about workforce turnover at the agency. The Director, working with management and employees, recently completed an evaluation of the work productivity goals, which have been cited by many former patent examiners as a major reason for their departure. USPTO is directed to continue a thorough and independent evaluation exploring all workforce management and turnover issues, and is directed to provide a preliminary, if not final, report within 120 days of enactment of this Act outlining substantial changes and milestones to improve employee retention.

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF STANDARDS AND TECHNOLOGY

The conference agreement provides $856,600,000 for the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) for fiscal year 2010.

SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNICAL RESEARCH AND SERVICES

The conference agreement provides $515,000,000 for NIST's scientific and technical core programs. Up to $9,000,000 may be transferred from the Scientific and Technical Research and Services (STRS) account to the Working Capital Fund, which NIST uses to purchase equipment for its laboratories.

SCIENCE AND TECHNICAL RESEARCH AND SERVICES, DIRECT OBLIGATIONS

The conferees approve NIST's new budget structure consolidating all the functions of its laboratory research program under one budget activity. Any deviation from amounts specified in spend plans or reports for particular labs and technical programs, or the use of de-obligated funds shall be subject to reprogramming procedures set forth in sections 103 and 505 of this Act.

Within available resources, the conference agreement fully funds the requested increase for a comprehensive national cyber security initiative. NIST is directed to expand its biodiversity storage capabilities and resources into the Pacific region through a Pacific Islands component and the conference agreement provides $750,000 for this purpose.

The conference agreement includes funding within the amounts provided for Strategic Measurement Partnerships for the activities listed below:

National Institute of Standards and Technology
Scientific and Technical Research and Services
Congressionally-designated Items
($ in thousands)

Recipient	Project	Amount
George Mason University, Arlington, VA	Center for Infrastructure Protection (CIP)	550
LSU A&M, Baton Rouge, LA	Center for Digital Innovation	1,000
University at Albany (SUNY), College of Nanoscale Science and Engineering (CNSE), Albany, NY	A Collaboration with NIST for the Development and Deployment of New Nanoscale Measurement Strategies	500

The conferees direct NIST to refrain from charging administrative costs to these grants and expect that the agency will provide appropriate management and oversight of each grant.

INDUSTRIAL TECHNOLOGY SERVICES

The conference agreement provides $194,600,000. Of this amount, $124,700,000 is provided for the Manufacturing Extension Partnerships (MEP) and $69,900,000 is provided for the Technology Innovation Program (TIP). Within MEP, NIST and its partners are directed to consider the importance automation plays in accelerating and integrating manufacturing processes across all levels of industry.

CONSTRUCTION OF RESEARCH FACILITIES

The conference agreement provides $147,000,000, of which $20,000,000 shall be available for a competitive construction grant program and $80,000,000 for the highest priority construction and safety, capacity, maintenance, and major repair (SCMMR) projects at NIST. Within funding provided, the conferees encourage the agency to maintain an appropriate SCMMR funding level.

Competitive construction grants.—Within the appropriation, the conference agreement provides $20,000,000 for competitive construction grants for research science buildings in fiscal year 2010. The conferees note that in just the first year of the program, the fiscal year 2008 call for proposals yielded 93 requests, of which only three were funded due to limited appropriations. The conferees expect the Administration to include funding for this competitive program in future requests as these research science buildings leverage additional public and private funding, provide jobs, and improve science research in the Nation.

The conferees direct NIST to provide quarterly reports on the status of all construction projects funded under this appropriation to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations.

The conference agreement provides $47,000,000 for the activities listed below.

National Institute of Standards and Technology

Recipient	Project	Amount

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, AL	Interdisciplinary Science and Engineering Teaching and Research Corridor	30,000
University of Mississippi Medical Center, Jackson, MS	The Mississippi Biotechnology Research Park	6,000

The conferees direct NIST to refrain from charging administrative costs to these grants. The conferees expect that NIST will provide appropriate management and oversight of each grant.

NATIONAL OCEANIC AND ATMOSPHERIC
ADMINISTRATION

The conferees provide a total of $4,737,531,000 in discretionary appropriations for the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA).

OPERATIONS, RESEARCH, AND FACILITIES
(INCLUDING TRANSFERS OF FUNDS)

The conference agreement provides a total program level of $3,412,778,000 under this account for the coastal, fisheries, marine, weather, satellite and other programs of NOAA. This total funding level includes $3,305,178,000 in direct appropriations; a transfer of $104,600,000 from balances in the "Promote and Develop Fishery Products and Research Pertaining to American Fisheries" account; and a transfer of $3,000,000 from the Coastal Zone Management Fund.

Within this amount, the conference agreement provides funds for congressionally-directed activities listed within the obligation tables for each line office, and directs NOAA to refrain from charging administrative costs to these grants. The conferees expect that NOAA will provide appropriate management and oversight of each grant.

The following narrative descriptions and tables identify the specific activities and funding levels included in this Act:

National Ocean Service (NOS).—The conference agreement provides $522,220,000 for NOS operations, research and facilities.

Mapping and charting.—The conference agreement provides $49,487,000 for mapping and charting, of which $750,000 is provided for the development and demonstration of unmanned surface vehicles for hydrographic survey operations.

Tide and current data.—The conference agreement provides an additional $3,800,000 above the request to support fully the entire design, installation, maintenance, and operations of the Physical Oceanographic Real-Time System (PORTS), as authorized by Public Law 107-372.

Regional geospatial modeling grants.—The conference agreement provides $5,500,000 to continue funding for this competitive program for researchers and resource managers to develop models or geographic information systems using existing geodetic, coastal remote sensing data, terrestrial gravity measurements, or other physical datasets.

Integrated Ocean Observing System (IOOS).—The conference agreement provides a total of $33,555,000 for IOOS, of which $6,555,000 is for program administration; $20,000,000 is for a competitive, regional ocean observing systems solicitation; $4,000,000 is for a competitive extramural regional test bed for the Atlantic and Gulf coasts described in the Senate report, for which NOAA shall outline this effort's approach and timeline in its fiscal year 2010 operating plan; and $3,000,000 is for a consortium for testing and advancing new sensor technologies. NOAA is directed to report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 30 days of enactment of this Act on the feasibility of establishing a cooperative institute for the purpose of advancing and sustaining this essential capability and its inclusion in future requests.

Coral reef programs.—Given the magnitude of the effect of climate change on coral reefs worldwide and the vital role that coral reefs play in protecting the Nation's beaches, sustaining fisheries and providing other economic benefits, the conference agreement provides $29,000,000 for the coral reef program, which includes $2,273,000 in competitive funding above the request for external coral reef institute partners. In awarding this competitive funding, the conferees encourage NOAA to consider comparative regional needs, geographic scope, historic funding levels and other available funding. The conferees direct NOAA to include base funding for the external coral reef institutes in future budget requests.

Response and restoration.—The conference agreement includes $27,134,000 for response and restoration, which provides $3,000,000 for estuary restoration and $9,300,000 for damage assessment and restoration. The conference agreement provides an additional $1,000,000 for the Office of Response and Restoration, working jointly with the Office of National Marine Sanctuaries, to solicit a one-time independent assessment of potential man-made undersea threats that could impact coastal and Great Lakes States.

Coastal Zone Management (CZM) grants.—The conference agreement provides $2,000,000 above the request, and NOAA is directed to use a portion of the increase provided for a competitive program for efforts to modernize and improve State information systems to assess, track and manage permitting and land-use tracking procedures.

National Estuarine Research Reserve System (NERRS).—The conference agreement provides an increase of $1,174,000 above the request for the NERRS operations.

National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS).—The conference agreement provides $904,539,000 for NMFS operations, research and facilities.

Protected species research and management.—The conference agreement provides $15,623,000 for the species recovery grants program. The conferees concur with the need for increased funding for endangered, threatened, and at-risk marine species.

Marine mammals, marine turtles, and marine protected species.—The conference agreement provides total funding of $4,275,000 for Hawaiian Monk Seal activities; $7,800,000 for Hawaiian Sea Turtle and incident take activities; and $1,500,000 for the study and protection of cetaceans in the Pacific.

The conferees encourage NOAA to demonstrate and utilize biological pattern recognition technology where appropriate for tagging fish or threatened or endangered animal species.

Fisheries research and management.—The conference agreement provides $424,717,000 for fisheries research and management. Within this amount, $190,883,000 is recommended for fisheries research and management programs. Within the amounts provided, the conference agreement includes a programmatic increase of $750,000 for regulation activities associated with the Pacific Marine Monuments.

Magnuson-Stevens Reauthorization Act (MSRA).—The conference agreement provides all requested increases for MSRA requirements. These funds are necessary to prevent fisheries collapses and obviate the need for disaster funding. The conferees recognize the need to ensure sustainable fisheries. Within amounts provided, funding is designated to implement a sector-based management approach for New England and to transition to catch shares, a new tool that provides flexibility for fishermen while maintaining sustainability. Funding is provided to support the costs of expanded stock assessments and for regional councils that make recommendations on annual catch limits (ACLs).

The conference agreement also provides funding to continue development of a State-Federal national registry program for marine recreational fishing participants, and to expand commercial fisheries' biological sampling programs and electronic reporting of commercial fisheries' landings. In addition, the conferees direct NMFS to provide a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 90 days of enactment of this Act on recreational fishing under catch share program management. Specifically, the report shall include how data collection for recreational catches will improve in fisheries where the commercial sector receives catch shares; and how allocation conflicts between recreational and commercial sectors will be resolved.

Economic and social science research.—The conference agreement includes the requested increase to address significant economic and social science research data gaps in major Federal fisheries that are crucial to developing support tools to conduct MSRA-mandated cost-benefit analyses of regulatory options, such as ACLs and limited access privilege programs (LAPPs). These resources will allow the affected regions to provide input and engage in solutions in their own sectors, and to forge new relationships between the regions and NMFS.

Salmon management activities.—An increase of $10,000,000 above the request is provided to begin implementation of reforms developed by the Hatchery Scientific Review Group to operate these facilities in a manner more conducive to salmon recovery.

Enforcement.—The conference agreement provides the requested increase to fund the enforcement requirements of the MSRA. The conference recommendation includes a total of $1,500,000 to continue installing electronic logbooks on shrimp boats to monitor and reduce bycatch; end overfishing; rebuild overfished stocks such as red snapper; and ensure the sustainability of shrimp fisheries. The conferees note that this program is inherent to NOAA's core mission and implementation of current shrimp fishery regulations, and expect that sufficient funding will be reflected in future budget requests.

Observer/training.—The conference agreement provides the requested MSRA increase for implementation of annual catch limits. This includes supplementing observer coverage in three fisheries, including the Gulf of Mexico reef fish fishery, and will implement pilot programs for three additional fisheries. The conference agreement also provides an increase above the request of $3,015,000 for the Hawaiian Longline Observer Program.

Gulf coast management activities.—The conferees encourage NOAA to solicit, evaluate and incorporate independent fishery data when developing fishery regulations, and to create a thorough report detailing the potential economic impact any new restrictions would have on Gulf of Mexico communities before moving forward with any changes impacting the red snapper fishery.

Habitat conservation and restoration.—The conference agreement provides a total of $27,967,000 for fisheries habitat restoration. Within this amount, $18,600,000 is provided for the community based restoration program and $7,034,000 is provided for the open rivers program.

Other activities.—The conference agreement provides $500,000 for fishery demonstration projects that develop and protect traditional fishing practices in communities represented on the Western Pacific Fishery Management Council.

The conferees recognize the importance of ongoing surfclam and ocean quahog surveys to sustainable fisheries management and encourages NOAA to work closely with stakeholders on this matter.

Regional studies: Chesapeake Bay.—The conferees direct NOAA's Chesapeake Bay Office to continue to collaborate with the States of Maryland and Virginia, and to continue to utilize the Sea Grant programs from both States in developing the program to advance multiple species management by focusing on blue crabs, oysters, and other resource species.

Chesapeake Bay oyster restoration.—The conference agreement provides $3,000,000 for oyster restoration in the Chesapeake Bay. Of these funds, $2,000,000 is provided for oyster restoration in the Maryland waters of the Chesapeake Bay which shall be for on-the-ground and in-the-water restoration efforts, and $1,000,000 of these funds is for oyster restoration in Virginia waters of the Chesapeake Bay. Funds shall not be used for administrative costs, including banquets or salaries.

Alaskan marine mammal protection.—With regard to congressionally-designated funding for the Indigenous People's Council for Marine Mammals (IPCoMM), the conferees expect NOAA to assist IPCoMM in developing a competitive process to allocate new co-management funding provided in this Act.

Oceanic and Atmospheric Research (OAR).—The conference agreement includes $438,766,000 for OAR operations, research and facilities. The conferees provide additional support for activities appropriately conducted by a national climate service and direct the agency to accelerate its current efforts towards the creation of such an entity.

The conferees direct NOAA to enter into a contract with the National Academy of Public Administration (NAPA) within 60 days after the enactment of this Act for a study and analysis of organizational options for a National Climate Service within NOAA, emphasizing maximum effectiveness and efficiency. The study should consider how to provide information at the global, regional, and State levels over varying timescales; support interaction among the government and various users, stakeholders, researchers, and information providers of climate information in both the private and public sectors; develop and distribute products and information that will support decision-making to better prepare the Nation for climate variability and climate change; coordinate and align existing programs and resources internal and external to NOAA to reduce duplications and leverage existing climate-related resources; and provide estimates on projected funding levels. The study shall be completed no later than 120 days after the contract is awarded.

Climate research.—The conference agreement provides $221,040,000 for climate research. Within the recommendation, the conferees provide $9,000,000 for climate assessment services to synthesize, evaluate and report on climate change research findings; evaluate the effects of climate variability and change for different regions and sectors; and identify climate vulnerabilities and uncertainties as part of an ongoing effort to understand what climate change means for the United States. The recommendation also includes $2,200,000 to continue chemical climate research important to climate modeling and atmospheric science research.

Weather and air quality research.—The conference agreement includes $650,000 above the request for instrumentation and operation of state-of-the-art monitoring of nutrients and mercury speciation measurement stations and laboratories.

Ocean, Coastal and Great Lakes research.—The conferees encourage NOAA to conduct long-term ice cover and water level outlooks for the Great Lakes and to report on the impact of climate change on the habitats, fish and wildlife, commerce, recreational opportunities and water supply of the Great Lakes.

The conferees direct NOAA to provide a report on the potential of ocean fertilization for climate change mitigation to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 60 days of enactment of this Act, and encourage NOAA to support further research, as appropriate, within funds provided.

Laboratories and cooperative institutes.—The conference agreement provides a total of $26,340,000 for laboratories and cooperative institutes, of which $4,500,000 is for the Northern Gulf Institute (NGI). The NGI is a cooperative institute that was solicited and competitively selected by NOAA to develop regional approaches to ecosystem management and research the interface between human, watershed, coast, ocean, and atmosphere continuums. The Gulf region is a significant contributor to the Nation's economy, and NOAA's own data shows that the Gulf experiences the highest frequency of severe weather and is affected by more disasters than any other region. Therefore, the conferees expect NOAA to provide adequate base funding for this activity in future budget requests.

National Sea Grant College Program.—The conference agreement provides $63,000,000, of which $4,800,000 is for marine aquaculture research and $2,000,000 is for aquatic invasive species research; both activities shall be coordinated by NOAA's Sea Grant office. The conferees recognize the important role the Sea Grant program plays in connecting coastal and Great Lakes communities with practical research and results, and encourage the growth of this program in future budget requests.

Ocean exploration.—The conference agreement funds the ocean exploration program and the national undersea research program separately, as they are two distinct authorizations in the Omnibus Public Lands Management Act (Public Law 111-11). The conferees provide $3,000,000 in additional funding to support further ongoing operations in the Pacific and to advance exploration in the Indian Ocean.

National Weather Service (NWS).—The conference agreement provides $892,118,000 for National Weather Service operations, research and facilities. This includes the requested increase of $10,000,000 to accelerate significantly the improvement of hurricane track and intensity forecasts and fully funds the request for the Center for Weather and Climate Prediction operations.

Aviation weather.—The conferees are concerned about the plans under consideration by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) and the NWS to restructure the way aviation weather services are provided at en route centers that require the consolidation of weather service offices. GAO's September 2009 report on this issue recommended that the Departments of Commerce and Transportation document baseline performance for several measures and take steps to address the significant challenges that FAA and NWS face to improve the current aviation weather structure. The conferees direct NWS to report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 60 days of enactment of this Act on steps taken to implement GAO's recommendations and the consequences, if any, of plans to restructure aviation weather services.

National Centers for Environmental Prediction (NCEP).—The conferees encourage NCEP to continue to improve the performance of its computer modeling for weather, climate, hydrological and ocean prediction to ensure U.S. forecasting capabilities lead the world. The conferees encourage NCEP to draw fully upon the resources of the U.S. academic community to better implement emerging scientific and technological advances.

National mesonet program.—The conference agreement provides $19,000,000 for continuation and expansion of the national mesonet program. Funds shall be allocated as follows: (1) $8,000,000 to maintain data procurements from existing surface in situ mesonet observations, including those observations added as a result of the fiscal year 2009 expansion of the national mesonet program; (2) $5,500,000 for competitive expansion of the national mesonet program to include integration of additional surface in situ observational data from existing networks, with 75 percent of the funds for data acquisition from urban and 25 percent for non-urban (rural, mountainous, and coastal) areas; (3) $500,000 for the national mesonet program office for program oversight and data utilization initiatives; (4) $3,500,000 for the continued development and expansion of the Mobile Platform Environment (MoPED) System pilot program to ensure that mobile platform environmental data is available to support efforts of the NWS and Meteorological Assimilation Data Ingest System (MADIS); and (5) $1,000,000 for data validation tools for quality control and network monitoring and reliability, with up to $500,000 of these funds for MADIS expansion. The conferees expect NOAA to include in its fiscal year 2011 budget a robust and expanded national mesonet program, as called for by the National Research Council. Further, the conferees note that NOAA was required to submit a plan 90 days after enactment of the fiscal year 2009 Omnibus Appropriations Act on implementation of the national mesonet program, a deadline with which the agency has not complied. The conferees expect this plan to be submitted within 30 days of the enactment of this Act.

National Weather Service.—The conferees direct that NOAA contract with the National Academy of Sciences to conduct an assessment of the now completed NWS modernization. During the 1980's and 1990's NOAA launched a major program to modernize the NWS, investing $5,000,000,000 to modernize NWS technologies to advance weather forecasting. However, a complete assessment of the entire end-to-end NWS modernization enterprise has not been completed. The conferees require a report that not only addresses the past modernization, but also focuses on lessons learned to support future improvements to NWS capabilities. The report shall address high-impact weather and new science and technologies that allow for even better forecasts; the integration of new technologies and better models into NWS operations; and improving current partnerships with private industry, academia and other governmental agencies.

Williston radar.—The conferees remain concerned about the ability of the NWS to forecast weather adequately, especially snow events, without the Williston radar. NOAA is directed to continue operations and staffing at the Williston Radar Station until independent research substantiates that any other radars in the forecast area can provide coverage for all light and heavy weather activity in the region.

National Environmental Satellite, Data and Information Service (NESDIS).—The conference agreement provides $199,165,000 for NESDIS operations, research and facilities.

Data centers and information services.—The conference agreement provides $67,255,000. This level includes $10,000,000 for climate data records (CDRs) to ensure the availability of authoritative climate reference data upon which to base investments and strategic plans; and additional funding for environmental data archiving, access and assessment activities.

Regional climate centers (RCCs).—The conference agreement provides a total of $4,350,000 for RCCs.

Scatterometer.—The conferees direct NOAA, together with NASA which is similarly directed, to continue co-funding joint studies within available funds that should lead to a fiscal year 2011 request to build and fly an operational scatterometer providing sea surface vector wind measurements. NOAA should aggressively pursue negotiations to secure a flight opportunity for this instrument that is both reliable and timely.

Program support (PS).—The conference agreement provides $455,970,000 for PS operations, research and facilities.

IT security.—The conference agreement provides $7,000,000 for NOAA's new cyber security and email communications system. This system is needed to reduce NOAA's high vulnerability to cyber threat and to ensure that NOAA's observing and modeling systems provide high quality information for continuous public use. The conferees note that funds provided in fiscal year 2009 were diverted without notification and NOAA has not requested adequate funds for these critical efforts in the current request. The conferees direct the agency to provide a detailed spend plan for all IT expenditures within 30 days of enactment of this Act, including funds from all sources. In addition, the conferees expect that future budget requests will include descriptions of significant IT expenditures and appropriate request levels, and that NOAA will follow the reprogramming procedures outlined in section 505 of this Act, as appropriate.

NOAA education program.—The conferees strongly support NOAA's education programs to increase environmental and ocean literacy and the conference agreement includes $38,523,000 to ensure a robust program. Within funding provided, $12,000,000 is for competitive educational grants, of which $8,000,000 is to increase the number of successful applications, and $4,000,000 is to continue the ocean education initiative created in fiscal year 2009. NOAA is also encouraged to support informal education partnership efforts to use new online broadband and digital media technologies to improve STEM education related to weather, climate, the Great Lakes and the ocean.

GLOBE.—The conference agreement provides $3,000,000 for the GLOBE Program. The conferees recognize NOAA's past role in GLOBE and direct NOAA to support the OSTP review of the program and to work cooperatively with NASA and NSF on this interagency program.

Marine operations.—The conference agreement provides $120,125,000, which includes $2,500,000 for purchase and installation of an integrated vessel electronics bridge system for any ships or boats within NOAA.

Justification improvement.—The conferees direct NOAA to work with the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations to reformat its justification into a more useable and user-friendly document, starting with the fiscal year 2011 submission. The conferees note the lack of funding transparency, justification for base programs, and other cross-cutting information, including the lack of personnel costs.

GAO report on management and administration costs.—The conferees note NOAA's inability to identify the costs of administering NOAA's programs and direct GAO to identify salaries and expenses within each line item of the NOAA budget and explain how agency, line office, and program management and administration costs are financed. The conferees expect that the report be completed within one year and that a preliminary report be prepared and presented to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations by May 3, 2010.

Research and development (R&D) tracking and outcomes.—The conferees continue their direction that NOAA track the division of R&D funds between intramural and extramural research, and assure consistency and clarity in the collection and reporting of data. NOAA is directed to clearly state its expected research outcomes and available funding in order to provide transparency into the competitive grant process for extramural researchers. The conferees further direct NOAA to increase extramural research funding in future requests to build broad community support and leverage external funding for mission-oriented research.

Laboratories and cooperative institutes.—Within 60 days of enactment of this Act, NOAA is directed to provide the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations a report detailing the status of existing and expected regional cooperative institutes including current and planned funding and activities on a program by program basis. This report should make clear the programmatic origin of existing funding and contain an explanation of how NOAA expects to use these institutes in the future.

Commercial satellites.—The conferees direct NOAA to report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 60 days of enactment of this Act on how the agency could benefit from acquiring space-based scientific data from commercial sources over the next three years, its plans to obtain such data, and an analysis of expected availability.

PROCUREMENT, ACQUISITION AND CONSTRUCTION

The conference agreement includes a total program level of $1,360,353,000 in direct obligations under this heading, of which $1,358,353,000 is appropriated from the general fund and $2,000,000 is derived from recoveries of prior year obligations.

The bill includes language making any deviation from amounts designated for specific activities in this report, or any use of deobligated balances of funds provided under this heading in previous years subject to the reprogramming procedures set forth in section 505.

National Ocean Service (NOS).—The recommendation includes $36,890,000 for NOS acquisition and construction. This includes $5,000,000 above the request for the coastal and estuarine land conservation (CELCP) program. As a result of the Omnibus Public Lands Act, no less than 15 percent of CELCP funds shall be available for acquisitions benefiting National Estuarine Research Reserves System (NERRS). The conference agreement funds the NERRS Acquisition and Construction account at the request of $3,890,000, which provides a total of $6,890,000 for NERRS.

Great Lakes restoration initiative.—The conferees understand that NOAA is expected to receive funding through the Environmental Protection Agency for the Great Lakes Restoration Initiative, including funds for land conservation projects. The conferees expect that this external funding will supplement, not replace, funding provided in this Act for CELCP projects, and the existence of this additional funding source shall not affect NOAA's consideration of proposals under the CELCP program.

National Environmental Satellite, Data and Information Service (NESDIS).—The recommendation includes $1,199,357,000 for NESDIS acquisition and construction. The conference agreement reduces the total funding provided for satellite acquisition and construction in recognition of reduced requirements for GOES-R resulting from delays in awarding the ground system contract.

National Polar-orbiting Operational Environmental Satellite System (NPOESS).—The conferees are concerned that NPOESS' management structure, potential growth in the projected life-cycle cost of more than $15,000,000,000, and repeated schedule delays portend an unacceptably high risk of weather and climate satellite observation gaps. Recognizing that this satellite program is critical to forecasting the Nation's weather, the conferees' recommendation fully funds the NPOESS budget request for 2010 based on current information. However, the budget request does not reflect the true need and the program's long-term projections for success remain in doubt. In fact, to date this experiment in combining disparate elements has been a horrendous and costly failure.

A recent independent review team tasked with assessing all aspects of the program found many overarching flaws, ultimately determining that NPOESS is a program with a low probability of success. A June 2009 GAO report found that the NPOESS Executive Committee responsible for overseeing the program lacks the membership and leadership needed to effectively and efficiently oversee and direct the program. The conferees note that this situation has been developing for some time and is the result of a dysfunctional tri-agency management approach.

Yet decisions made now—including delays or postponements of decisions—have long-term consequences for both the sustained robustness of the operational observing system and for the Nation's industrial capacity. Nothing short of an immediate and out-of-the-box solution will do. The program needs a cooperative solution that will take advantage of the strengths of the three agencies involved, sustain the integrated operations of the various satellites, and should not be based on financial projections that have proven to be consistently and abysmally unreliable.

NOAA is encouraged to request appropriate contingency funding to avoid delays and additional management and industrial policy challenges when programmatic funding is diverted to solve an imminent crisis. In addition, NOAA is encouraged to request funding for and to develop back up capabilities to ensure continuity of climatological observations. Accordingly, the conference agreement removes the 50/50 NOAA/DoD funding split requirement to allow for more creative funding decisions to avert the critical climate and weather gaps that are sure to occur if a management solution is not identified soon.

Changes to the overall management structure are also needed to bring the program back in line, which includes modifying existing relationships between NOAA, the Department of Defense, and the contractor and enlisting more help from an agency with real space acquisition experience, such as NASA. Furthermore, a clear line of authority embodied in a project manager with the ability to make timely and cost effective decisions and avoid further delays is crucial.

Finally, the conferees direct NESDIS to employ NASA cost analysis capabilities, and in consultation with the Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD), Cost Analysis Improvement Group (CAIG), to perform an independent cost analysis of all programmatic and acquisition alternatives at the 80 percent confidence level, and to include management structure change options. The conferees direct NOAA to report these findings and recommendations to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations along with all appropriate congressional oversight committees no later than January 4, 2010.

Comprehensive large array stewardship system (CLASS).—The conference agreement includes $18,476,000 for CLASS. Of these funds, $5,500,000 is for maintenance, operations, and implementation of enhancements from development activity, and $12,976,000 is for contracted development, with project administration and oversight to be at NOAA's National Climatic Data Center.

NOAA Cooperative Institute and Research Center for Southeast Weather and Hydrology.—The conference agreement provides $14,000,000 for the continued construction of a research facility and weather related instrumentation and equipment to address the impact of severe weather in the Southeast.

The conference agreement provides funding for congressionally-designated activities listed within the obligation table for the PAC appropriation and directs NOAA to refrain from charging administrative costs to these grants. The conferees expect that NOAA will provide appropriate management and oversight of each grant.

Climate change.—The conferees are concerned that local and regional governments and the private sector of the United States make wise and timely investments to adapt to climate changes that will occur based on continuing growth in the amounts of atmospheric greenhouse gases. The conferees direct the Secretary of Commerce to develop a plan for how the needs of the private sector and local and State governments, as users of specific and tailored climate forecasts, will be addressed by new investments in climate services funded in this Act, and how a National Climate Service could incorporate the needs for such forecasts, if established. This plan is to be reported to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations by April 1, 2010.

Minority serving institutions digital and wireless opportunity program.—Not later than 60 days after enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Commerce shall submit to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations a report describing the Department's plans to support and assist minority serving institutions (MSI) in improving their instrumentation, connectivity, hardware and software for instructional and research purposes as contemplated by the amendments to the Stevenson-Wylder Technology Innovation Act of 1980. The conferees also encourage the Secretary to work with the MSI national stakeholder organizations in developing such strategies.

Justification improvement.—The conferees direct the Department to work with the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations to reformat all Commerce justifications into more useable and user-friendly documents, starting with the fiscal year 2011 submission.

Departmental oversight.—The conferees direct the Department to develop oversight capacity of the USPTO, and to track fee collections and other pertinent policy and economic impacts, to avoid budgetary shortfalls, and ensure that the Department and the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations are fully informed on funding issues.

HERBERT C. HOOVER BUILDING RENOVATION AND MODERNIZATION

The conference agreement provides $22,500,000 for continued renovation of the Herbert C. Hoover Building.

OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL

The conference agreement provides $27,000,000 for the Office of Inspector General (OIG) for fiscal year 2010. Within funds provided, the Office of Inspector General shall continue to conduct audits and oversight of the USPTO.

GENERAL PROVISIONS—DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

The conference agreement includes the following general provisions for the Department of Commerce:

Section 101 makes funds available for advanced payments only upon certification of officials designated by the Secretary that such payments are considered to be in the public interest.

Section 102 makes appropriations for the Department for salaries and expenses available for hire of passenger motor vehicles, for services, and for uniforms and allowances as authorized by law.

Section 103 provides the authority to transfer funds between Department of Commerce appropriation accounts and requires notification to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations of certain actions.

Section 104 provides that any costs incurred by the Department in response to funding reductions shall be absorbed within the total budgetary resources available to the Department and shall be subject to the reprogramming limitations set forth in this Act.

Section 105 extends Congressional notification requirements for the GOES-R satellite program.

Section 106 provides for the reimbursement for services within Department of Commerce buildings.

Section 107 provides authority for Secretary of Commerce to negotiate or re-evaluate international agreements related to fisheries, marine mammals, or sea turtles.

Section 108 extends the authority of the Emergency Steel Loan Guarantee Program for two years.

Section 109 clarifies that grant recipients under the Department of Commerce may continue to deter child pornography, copyright infringement, or any other unlawful activity over their networks.

Section 110 provides the Administrator with the authority to avail NOAA of needed resources, with the consent of those supplying the resources, to carry out responsibilities of any statute administered by NOAA.

TITLE II

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $118,488,000 for General Administration, Salaries and Expenses.

Post-Guantanamo activities.—The conference agreement does not include the $60,000,000 requested for the anticipated costs of detaining, prosecuting and incarcerating individuals transferred from the detention facilities at Guantanamo Bay.

Reports to the Committees on Appropriations.—The conferees note that the Department has been delinquent in the delivery of multiple reports requested in the explanatory statement accompanying the Omnibus Appropriations Act for fiscal year 2009. These reports were requested by the Committees to provide additional information and analysis necessary for the conduct of appropriate oversight and to assist the Committees in determining funding levels for fiscal year 2010. While the presidential transition process likely played a role in these delays, the Department is still responsible for meeting congressionally-imposed deadlines.

At the suggestion of the Department, the conferees have made all reports required in this fiscal year 2010 statement due 120 days after the enactment of this Act. Because the Department has provided assurances that a 120 day deadline is both reasonable and achievable, the conferees fully expect the Department to meet the deadline for all required reports in fiscal year 2010.

Emerging telecommunications technologies.—The Attorney General (AG) is directed to report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 120 days of the enactment of this Act on whether the Department has the resources needed to preserve law enforcement's electronic surveillance capabilities in the face of emerging communication technologies, such as third and fourth generation communications networks. If sufficient resources do not exist, the AG is directed to provide recommendations on the resources needed to ensure that Federal, as well as State and local, law enforcement agencies maintain the technological capabilities to conduct successful electronic surveillance.

Reducing crime in Indian Country.—The conferees direct the AG, in coordination with the Secretary of the Interior and State and tribal officials, to establish an interagency and tribal working group to clarify and resolve investigatory and prosecutorial jurisdiction challenges in Indian Country and to identify other challenges and needs related to tribal justice systems, including secure law enforcement information sharing systems. The working group shall develop recommendations on streamlining the Federal, State, and tribal response to criminal investigations and prosecutions, and shall submit a report containing such recommendations to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 120 days of the enactment of this Act.

The group shall also report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations on the declination rate of crimes committed in Indian Country, the criteria used to determine when a Federal prosecution will be brought and how those criteria differ from practices used elsewhere in the United States and its territories. The report shall be submitted within 120 days of the enactment of this Act.

Further, the group shall develop protocols for Federal law enforcement agencies to notify the appropriate tribal officials of the rationale behind any decision to decline to initiate an investigation, or to terminate an investigation of an alleged violation of Federal law in Indian Country without referral for prosecution. This notification should describe the type of crime alleged, the status of the perpetrator and the status of the victim. These protocols should also ensure that United States Attorneys coordinate with tribal prosecutors in advance of prosecution deadlines mandated by the statute of limitations to permit tribal prosecutors to pursue cases, as appropriate, and define the responsibilities of Assistant United States Attorneys serving as Tribal Liaisons in order to better coordinate the prosecution of crimes on reservations.

Reducing regulatory backlogs.—The conferees remain concerned with the existence of significant regulatory backlogs in portions of the Department, particularly the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF). While ATF and other relevant bureaus hold primary responsibility for getting their regulations drafted, reviewed and disposed of in a timely manner, the Department also plays a significant role, and lengthy delays in the Department's consideration of proposed regulations are contributing to the larger timeliness problem. The Department is directed to examine its regulatory review process (to include processes at the relevant bureaus) and to report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 120 days of the enactment of this Act on recommended process reforms or resource investments that could shorten the total amount of time needed to draft and complete consideration of new regulations.

Combating Gangs.—The 2009 National Gang Threat Assessment produced by the Department indicates that gangs pose a serious threat to public safety in many communities throughout the United States, and are increasingly migrating from urban to suburban areas. Gang membership has increased more than 20 percent since 2005, and gangs now total more than one million members. Gangs are involved in drug trafficking, and increasingly, in alien and weapons trafficking. A rising number of U.S. gangs are intent on developing working relationships with U.S.- and foreign-based drug trafficking organizations and other criminal organizations to gain direct access to foreign sources of illicit drugs. While the primary responsibility for combating gang crime falls on local jurisdictions, the Federal government has a critical leadership, coordination, and intelligence-sharing role to play. The conferees expect the Attorney General to make anti-gang efforts a top national law enforcement priority, and dedicate the resources necessary to reduce violent gang crime. Toward this objective, the conference agreement includes an increase of $35,000,000 above the request for anti-gang activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives.

In order to strengthen anti-gang efforts, and in accordance with recent Government Accountability Office recommendations, the conferees also expect the Attorney General to direct DOJ entities to reexamine and reach consensus on their roles and responsibilities in anti-gang efforts; to develop a Department-wide strategic-level performance measure for anti-gang efforts; and to develop more complete and accurate reporting of gang-related case information by U.S. Attorney Offices. The Department shall report to the Committees within 120 days of the enactment of this Act on actions taken in response to these GAO recommendations, and presenting a comprehensive spending plan for the additional resources provided in this Act linked to Department-wide anti-gang strategic objectives.

Office of Professional Responsibility (OPR) inquiry.—The conferees are aware of an ongoing inquiry by OPR regarding Voting Rights Act enforcement. The conferees direct the Department to report on the findings of that inquiry, including, if applicable, any recommendations for action, at the conclusion of the inquiry.

Preventing contraband cell phone use in prisons.—The conferees include a directive under the National Telecommunications and Information Administration section of this explanatory statement requiring that agency to coordinate with the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Bureau of Prisons (BOP) and the National Institute of Justice (NIJ) to develop a plan to investigate and evaluate how wireless jamming, detection and other technologies might be utilized for law enforcement and corrections applications in Federal and State prison facilities. The conferees expect BOP and NIJ to fully cooperate in this effort.

NATIONAL DRUG INTELLIGENCE CENTER

The conference agreement provides $44,023,000 for the National Drug Intelligence Center.

JUSTICE INFORMATION SHARING TECHNOLOGY

The conference agreement provides $88,285,000 for Justice Information Sharing Technology.

Litigation Case Management System (LCMS).—The conference agreement does not include funds for the continued deployment of LCMS. A reprogramming of funds for LCMS will be considered once the Department has completed all of the Inspector General's LCMS recommendations and submitted a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations detailing the steps taken to contain cost and schedule overruns.

Unified Financial Management System (UFMS).—The Department is directed to submit a list of specific and detailed performance milestones for UFMS development and deployment in fiscal year 2010, including dates for planned completion. These milestones should be reported to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 120 days of the enactment of this Act, and quarterly updates should be provided on the Department's progress in meeting those milestones.

Cyber security.—The conference agreement includes $27,439,000 to strengthen DOJ's cyber security program. The Department is urged to exercise discretion in testing cyber security protections to ensure that all relevant players have been alerted to the timing of these tests and to minimize any potential negative impact on DOJ employees.

TACTICAL LAW ENFORCEMENT WIRELESS COMMUNICATIONS

The conference agreement provides $206,143,000 for Tactical Law Enforcement Wireless Communications.

Integrated Wireless Network (IWN).—The conference agreement includes an increase of $21,143,000 for the continued development and deployment of IWN in high priority regions. Consistent with direction in the explanatory statement accompanying P.L. 111-8, all funds for IWN should be spent on the modernization and improvement of land mobile radio (LMR) systems. Secure cellular or data systems and non-LMR tactical equipment must be budgeted for and requested separately.

Performance milestone reporting.—The Department is expected to continue submitting quarterly reports on the achievement of established performance milestones for the use of IWN funds. These reports should reflect the Department's progress toward each milestone and the extent to which those milestones are being achieved within cost, schedule and performance expectations.

Cross-agency participation.—While supporting the broadest possible use of IWN across law enforcement agencies, the conferees expect that other agencies using the network will assume the full costs of their own participation.

ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW AND APPEALS

The conference agreement provides $296,685,000 for Administrative Review and Appeals.

Personnel and infrastructure increases.—The conference agreement includes $24,253,000 for personnel and infrastructure investments needed to efficiently process an increasing immigration adjudication caseload. Of this total, $10,250,000 is for the eWorld document management system to improve the Executive Office of Immigration Review's (EOIR) ability to store, distribute and archive its files.

Legal Orientation Program (LOP).—The conference agreement includes $6,000,000 for the continued implementation and expansion of the LOP. EOIR is encouraged to seek alien-specific detention costs and duration of detention data from Immigration and Customs Enforcement in order to develop a more accurate estimate of the cost savings to the Federal government provided by participation in the LOP.

Within the LOP total, $2,000,000 is provided for programs aimed at the custodians of unaccompanied alien children in order to address the custodian's responsibility for the child's appearance at all immigration proceedings and to protect the child from mistreatment, exploitation and trafficking.

Competency standards.—The explanatory statement accompanying P.L. 111-8 urged EOIR to work with experts and interested parties in developing standards and materials for judges to use in conducting competency evaluations of persons appearing in immigration court. EOIR is directed to report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 120 days of the enactment of this Act on the status of its efforts to develop this competency bench book. The report should also address the steps DOJ has taken to provide safeguards for the rights of aliens judged to be mentally incompetent, as required by 8 U.S.C. 1229a(b)(3).

Fraud program.—EOIR is urged to set written standards and criteria for use in judging potentially fraudulent evidence and testimony provided to an immigration court.

Inadequacy of budget requests.—The Government Accountability Office (GAO) is directed to review OFDT's methods for projecting population levels, jail day rates and other factors that are translated into the annual budget request for detention capacity. GAO should make recommendations to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations on steps OFDT should take to develop more accurate projections of funding requirements no later than August 31, 2010.

Population estimates.—OFDT is directed to report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations on a quarterly basis the number of individuals in the detention system, the projected number of individuals and the annualized costs that are associated with them.

The agreement also includes $5,300,000 within the total for Human Trafficking and Slavery Prosecution investigation and prosecution, as requested.

Within the total, not less than $1,800,000 is for the Criminal Division to maintain positions provided in the Commerce, Justice, Science and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2009 (Public Law 111-8) for attorneys, analysts, and support personnel for the investigation and prosecution of suspected human rights violators from foreign countries who have found safe haven in the United States.

U.S. National Central Bureau.—A September 2009 report from the Department of Justice Office of Inspector General identified a number of weaknesses in the U.S. National Central Bureau's (USNCB) processes and systems for collecting and disseminating international criminal information. The Department is directed to address the OIG's recommendations as soon as possible and to submit a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, within 120 days of enactment of this Act, regarding the status of its efforts.

The conference agreement provides $163,170,000 in budget authority for the Antitrust Division for fiscal year 2010. This appropriation is offset by $102,000,000 in premerger filing fee collections, resulting in a direct appropriation of $61,170,000.

SALARIES AND EXPENSES, UNITED STATES ATTORNEYS

The conference agreement provides $1,934,003,000 for the salaries and expenses of United States Attorneys (USA) for fiscal year 2010. Human trafficking.—The conferees direct the Executive Office of the United States Attorneys to designate a point of contact in each USA office to serve as the coordinator for all activities within that office concerning human trafficking and slavery matters covered by the Trafficking Victims Protection Act. Designating a point of contact will improve communication and coordination within each jurisdiction, including with victim services organizations, in order to better serve the victims of human trafficking and slavery.

UNITED STATES TRUSTEE SYSTEM FUND

The conference agreement provides budget authority of $219,250,000 for the United States Trustee System Fund in fiscal year 2010. The reduction of $5,238,000 from the budget request is due to a carryover into fiscal year 2010 of prior year funds. The appropriation is offset by $210,000,000 in offsetting fee collections and $5,000,000 derived from interest on investments in U.S. securities, resulting in a direct appropriation of $4,250,000.

SALARIES AND EXPENSES, FOREIGN CLAIMS SETTLEMENT COMMISSION

The conference agreement provides $2,117,000 for the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission in fiscal year 2010.

FEES AND EXPENSES OF WITNESSES

ASSETS FORFEITURE FUND

The conference agreement provides $20,990,000 for the Assets Forfeiture Fund.

UNITED STATES MARSHALS SERVICE SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $1,125,763,000 for the United States Marshals Service (USMS), Salaries and Expenses.

Sex offender apprehension.—The conference agreement includes an increase of $27,500,000 over the budget request to expand Adam Walsh Act enforcement activities in districts across the country. This funding will also help establish the National Sex Offender Targeting Center, improve the agency's information technology backbone and reinforce the agency's infrastructure so that Deputy Marshals have timely, accurate information to track down and arrest fugitive sex offenders.

Immigration enforcement.—The conference agreement includes significant new resources to address the enormous workload generated by increased enforcement activity in other agencies and bureaus. The conferees hope that this investment will at least partially alleviate the pressure on other Marshals programs, such as fugitive apprehension, now that more dedicated personnel will be available to handle the immigration-related caseload.

Fugitive Task Forces.—The conferees support the Marshals Service's Regional Fugitive Task Forces (RFTFs) and District Task Forces programs. The conferees direct the Marshals Service, within funds provided, to dedicate at least $20,000,000 to the enhancement of existing task forces and the establishment of new task force capabilities in areas of the United States not currently served by regional or district task forces.

Staff sexual abuse.—The conferees are concerned with the findings of the Inspector General that the USMS does not have a program addressing staff sexual abuse in cell block and transportation operations. The conferees expect the Marshals to implement the recommendations of the Inspector General expeditiously.

CONSTRUCTION

The conference agreement provides $26,625,000 for USMS construction. Included in this total is $12,625,000 that has been previously provided under the Salaries and Expenses heading. These funds should be applied to the highest priority renovation projects identified by the Marshals.

NATIONAL SECURITY DIVISION SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $87,938,000 for the National Security Division (NSD).

National Security Reviews.—NSD is directed to give immediate notice to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations of any deviations from the current plan to perform 20 National Security Reviews in fiscal year 2010.

INTERAGENCY LAW ENFORCEMENT

INTERAGENCY CRIME AND DRUG ENFORCEMENT
The conference agreement provides $528,569,000 for the Organized Crime and Drug Enforcement Task Forces.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $7,658,622,000 for the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), Salaries and Expenses.

Materials submitted in support of the budget.—The FBI is directed to submit all future budget requests with a listing of enhancement proposals in priority order so that the relative importance of each new initiative can be weighed. A prioritization of enhancements within each end-state capability or grouped into tiers will not be sufficient to meet this requirement.

The request also needs to include more quantifiable descriptions of the end-state capabilities. The conferees understand that the Bureau is currently working to develop more discrete and quantifiable end states. When this exercise is complete, the newly refined end state capabilities should be included in justification materials, along with a description of how each new initiative will advance the Bureau toward the achievement of an end state.

Finally, for the fiscal year 2011 process and all future requests, the FBI is directed to submit its classified addendum concurrently with its unclassified budget justification.

Hiring challenges.—In order to improve oversight of the FBI's hiring program, the FBI is directed to provide immediately to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations a hiring plan for direct-funded positions in fiscal year 2010. This plan should show on-board start of year staffing, anticipated attrition, planned enhancement hiring, planned vacancy hiring and expected end of year vacancies. This data should be supplemented by quarterly reports showing the number of direct-funded hires and separations in that quarter, as well as a cumulative running total of each.

Hollow positions.—The FBI is directed to prioritize the filling of its 450 existing hollow positions prior to seeking additional new positions in any future budget request. In addition, the FBI is directed to notify the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations prior to taking any action that would divert salary funds away from the positions for which they were appropriated, either for temporary uses (e.g., equipment purchases) or ongoing needs (e.g., pay raise absorption).

White collar crime.—The conference agreement provides $75,158,000, including an increase of $25,491,000 and 50 new agents, for mortgage fraud and other economic recovery investigations.

Civil rights enforcement.—The conference agreement provides $54,315,000, including an increase of $8,000,000 over the base, for civil rights enforcement. The conferees expect these funds to be used for investigations of human trafficking, hate crimes and cases pursued under the Emmett Till Unsolved Civil Rights Crimes Act.

Intellectual property enforcement.—The conference agreement includes an increase of $8,000,000 over the base for new agents to investigate intellectual property (IP) cases as authorized under section 402 of the PRO-IP Act (Public Law 110-403). These new agents are in addition to the IP-dedicated agents funded in Public Law 111-8 and identified in the Department's 2009 spend plan. The Department is directed to provide to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations an expenditure analysis of these congressional augmentations to ensure that these agents are solely investigating and supporting the criminal prosecution of violations of those Federal intellectual property laws cited in the statement accompanying Public Law 111-8. The report shall provide an accounting of the agents placed in specific field offices with Computer Hacking and Intellectual Property units and the types of intellectual property investigations pursued by these agents. This report shall be submitted no later than 120 days after the enactment of this Act.

Gangs and violent crime.—The conference agreement includes an increase of $25,000,000 over the base to expand the FBI's ability to confront gangs and violent crime in U.S. communities and in Indian Country through the Safe Streets and Safe Trails task force programs. The conferees expect this increased funding to be used to expand the resources of existing task forces, and to support the creation of at least three new task forces.

FBI statistics indicate that as much as 80 percent of crime in many communities is committed by criminal gangs and nearly 58 percent of State and local law enforcement agencies report that criminal gangs are active within their jurisdiction. The conferees expect the Bureau to develop an aggressive, comprehensive and unyielding anti-gang program comparable to the successful effort against organized crime in the U.S. forty years ago. Within 120 days of the enactment of this Act, the FBI shall submit a comprehensive report to the Committees on the overall strategy, funding, personnel, and activities of the Bureau's anti-gang program, including the MS-13 National Gang Task Force and the Safe Streets and Safe Trails task force programs, and the spending plans for additional resources provided in this Act.

Records management.—The conference agreement includes requested funding to continue records indexing and other preparations to make FBI's case and administrative files universally searchable and accessible, and to ensure that they are useful intelligence and investigative tools.

Overseas Contingency Operations.—The conference agreement includes $101,066,000, as requested, for the annualization of FBI's terrorism supplemental funds.

Next Generation Identification (NGI).—The FBI's inability to finalize program requirements and a budget and schedule baseline for NGI raises the possibility of significant budget overages and schedule delays. The FBI is directed to notify the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations prior to acceptance of any Engineering Change Proposal that will change NGI's Incremental Development Plan or the Integrated Master Schedule as they existed on April 14, 2009.

With respect to program scope, the FBI is directed to report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 120 days of the enactment of this Act on the standards the Bureau will use to assess the maturity of any biometric indicator being considered for inclusion in NGI.

National Security Reviews.—The budget justification for the National Security Division (NSD) indicates that NSD completed fewer National Security Reviews than planned in fiscal year 2008 because the FBI's Office of General Counsel (OGC) was busy with other requirements and commitments. This seems to imply a resource problem at OGC, despite the FBI having received millions of dollars in supplemental funds for the completion of these reviews. If additional resources are required beyond existing remediation dollars, the FBI is urged to identify those needs and request sufficient funds in fiscal year 2011.

Surveillance.—The conference agreement provides $22,000,000 in addition to requested funds for new personnel to address gaps in the FBI's surveillance program. The conferees direct that no less than 75 percent of these additional funds shall be spent on Special Surveillance Groups.

Comprehensive National Cybersecurity Initiative.—Cyber-based attacks and intrusions upon U.S. computer networks, many of which may be conducted by foreign state sponsors, result in substantial loss of critical intelligence by U.S. government, academia, military, industry, financial and other domains. The conferees recognize the FBI's efforts to address these threats and have included the full request of $140,311,000 to fund those efforts. This total includes an additional 260 positions and $61,180,000 to further the FBI's investigatory, intelligence gathering and technological capabilities.

The Bureau shall submit to the Committees within 120 days of the enactment of this Act a report on the FBI's portion of the Comprehensive National Cybersecurity Initiative, including program strategy, resources, trends in attacks, sources of attacks, attack notification procedures, and plans for outreach to both public and private sector institutions to prevent and deter future attacks.

Workforce distribution.—Staffing disparities exist between FBI field offices that have comparable threat and workload levels and comparable populations in their area of responsibility. The conferees encourage the Bureau to consider such disparities when allocating new agents to field offices in fiscal year 2010.

National security initiatives.—The conferees support the FBI's critical national security efforts to conduct investigations to prevent, disrupt, and deter acts of terrorism, and to continue strengthening relationships with other Federal, State and local partners. In addition to providing resources for core FBI national security activities, the conference agreement also provides funds to enhance national security initiatives, including for domain and operations, surveillance, and strengthening the FBI workforce.

Criminal Justice Information Services (CJIS) Division.—The conference agreement includes $651,000,000 for CJIS, including $285,000,000 in appropriated funds and $366,000,000 in user fees.

Biometrics.—The conference agreement includes language to permit the FBI to transfer up to $30,000,000 in prior year fees from the Salaries and Expenses account to the Construction account for the Biometrics Technology Center, if determined necessary by the FBI Director. In addition, the FBI is directed to make available $23,000,000 in prior year fee collections for information technology equipment and infrastructure that is necessary for the facility.

Human rights violations.—The FBI is directed to increase its efforts to investigate and support the criminal prosecution of serious human rights crimes committed by foreign nationals now residing in the United States. The conferees direct the use of $1,500,000 for this purpose and to continue operations of the human rights unit at FBI headquarters.

Innocent Images.—The conference agreement provides a total of $52,723,000 for the Innocent Images National Initiative to address the problem of child sexual exploitation and child victimization.

Innocence Lost.—The conference agreement provides $5,000,000 over the base to hire additional agents for the Innocence Lost Initiative to address child prostitution and domestic sex trafficking in the United States.

Rescission.—Title V of this Act contains a rescission from the FBI Salaries and Expenses account. This rescission should be taken against unobligated balances available for carryover from expired annual accounts.

CONSTRUCTION

The conference agreement provides $239,915,000 for construction. Included in this total is $72,119,000 requested in the Salaries and Expenses account for Sensitive Compartmented Information Facilities.

Biometrics Technology Center (BTC).—The conference agreement includes $97,600,000, as requested, for the BTC, a joint biometrics facility that will house both the FBI Biometrics Center for Excellence and the DOD Biometrics Fusion Center.

Terrorist Explosive Devices Analytical Center (TEDAC).—The conference agreement includes an additional $30,000,000 for the continued construction of a new TEDAC facility.

FBI Academy.—The conference agreement includes $5,000,000 to begin an architectural and engineering study to determine the full scope of renovations and/or construction necessary at the FBI Academy.

DRUG ENFORCEMENT ADMINISTRATION SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $2,019,682,000 for the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA).

Mobile Enforcement Teams.—The conference agreement includes $5,000,000 above the request to continue reestablishing Mobile Enforcement Teams (MET) in each domestic field office. The activities of MET should continue to include a focus on methamphetamine enforcement.

Methamphetamine strategy.—DEA is directed to report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 120 days of the enactment of this Act on the methamphetamine “smurfing” enforcement strategy it intends to pursue. The report shall describe both the actions DEA can pursue with current enforcement authorities, as well as any legislative changes that might improve DEA’s ability to identify and apprehend individuals engaged in smurfing.

BUREAU OF ALCOHOL, TOBACCO, FIREARMS AND EXPLOSIVES SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $1,114,772,000 for the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF), Salaries and Expenses.

Southwest border enforcement.—The conference agreement includes an increase of $17,989,000 in support of ATF’s Project Gunrunner. This brings the total amount available to ATF for weapons trafficking along the southwest border to $61,016,000. In order to ensure the continued availability of $10,000,000 previously provided for Gunrunner through the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA), ATF is directed to annualize ARRA Gunrunner funds in its fiscal year 2011 request.

eTrace reconfiguration.—ATF may need to expand and reconfigure eTrace and related systems in order to efficiently find and package responses to trace data requests as permitted by the bill language associated with this account. If additional resources are necessary for this reconfiguration, ATF is encouraged to use the Department’s authorities under Public Law 102-140 to access up to $8,500,000 of expired prior year funds for this purpose.

Gangs and violent crime.—Within amounts provided, the conference agreement includes an increase of $10,000,000 for ATF’s Violent Crime Impact Team (VCIT) program for violent crime and gang enforcement. These resources should be used to expand the activities of existing VCITs and to establish new VCITs in geographic areas of highest need.

The conferees expect ATF to coordinate with the FBI and other DOJ entities to maximize effectiveness of anti-gang efforts, and to report to the Committees within 120 days of the enactment of this Act on the spending plans for the additional resources provided in this Act for such efforts.

Conversion of records.—ATF is urged to continue the digital conversion and integration of Federal firearms dealer out-of-business records at the National Tracing Center.

National Integrated Ballistic Information Network.—ATF is urged to prioritize the upgrading and replacement of aging ballistic imaging equipment in its fiscal year 2010 operating budget and in future budget requests. ATF should also ensure that upgrades and replacements maximize and protect the resources already invested by State and local law enforcement.

ATF Headquarters.—Within the amounts provided, $1,500,000 shall be available to complete projects at ATF’s national headquarters that were not completed during construction of that facility.

CONSTRUCTION

The conference agreement provides $6,000,000 for ATF construction. This includes the requested funds for the completion of phase two of the National Center for Explosives Research and Training.

FEDERAL PRISON SYSTEM SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $6,086,231,000 for the salaries and expenses of the Federal Prison System for fiscal year 2010, an increase of $106,400,000 above the budget request.

Bureau of Prisons appropriations requests.—The Department’s appropriations requests for the Federal Bureau of Prisons (BOP) have been woefully inadequate over the last several years to meet BOP’s basic operational needs. Rather than proposing funding levels based on the marginal costs of expected growth in the inmate population, the appropriations requests for BOP appear to hew to external, arbitrary limitations. As a result, even when program enhancements are proposed, such as the hiring of new correctional officers and the activation of new prisons, BOP would be unable to implement such enhancements were Congress to provide the requested funding level. BOP cannot be expected to operate with arbitrary limitations on funding increases because BOP has relatively little control over its primary cost driver, inmate population growth. To address the gap between BOP’s operating needs and its budget request, the conference agreement provides an additional $106,400,000.

Variation from the funding directives in this statement shall be subject to the reprogramming requirements of section 505 of this Act. As part of the Department’s fiscal year 2010 spending plan, BOP shall propose a distribution of funds by decision unit that incorporates such directives. If additional salaries and expenses funding is required to meet BOP’s operating needs during fiscal year 2010, the Department is expected to propose supplemental appropriations or transfer funds from outside BOP to meet those needs.

The Department and BOP are expected to review carefully the Government Accountability Office (GAO) recommendations related to BOP’s budget formulation methodology and to implement recommendations designed to better ensure that future budget requests are coherently tied to BOP’s operational needs. The conferees expect the budget requests for fiscal year 2011 and future years to identify clearly the marginal costs of projected inmate population increases, in both BOP and private facilities, and to include those costs as adjustments to BOP’s base budget. More generally, the Department and BOP are expected to present future budget requests for BOP in a way that accurately differentiates all non-discretionary cost adjustments to BOP’s base budget requirements from program and staffing enhancements. BOP’s fiscal year 2011 budget request should also provide detailed descriptions of the major categories of activities comprising each decision unit and the proposed funding levels for each such category, including comparisons to prior year obligations for each category.

Correctional worker staffing.—The current correctional workforce is spread dangerously thin, compromising BOP’s ability to operate the Federal Prison System in a safe and efficient manner and undermining efforts to facilitate the successful reentry of inmates back into their communities. While BOP used additional resources provided by Congress above the budget request in fiscal year 2009 to hire more than 700 additional correctional workers, substantial additional progress must be made to ensure that BOP facilities can operate safely and effectively. Therefore, not less than $98,200,000 of the total salaries and expenses appropriation shall be used only for additional correctional worker staffing in fiscal year 2010 and for annualizing the cost of correctional workers hired during fiscal year 2009. The conferees expect the fiscal year 2011 budget submission to propose fully annualizing the cost of staff hired in fiscal year 2010 and to propose additional funding that would enable BOP to make significant further progress in increasing its on-board correctional worker staffing rate in fiscal year 2011.

To ensure that BOP’s correctional worker staffing needs are clearly defined, the conferees direct BOP to identify, as part of the budget requests for fiscal year 2011 and future years, the proposed number of authorized positions for each BOP facility in each correctional worker staffing category, along with the on-board staffing goals for the coming fiscal year for each facility in each such category, defined as percentages of authorized positions.

New prison activation.—Of the total amount provided, not less than $36,000,000 shall be used for the activation of FCI McDowell and not less than $22,000,000 shall be used for the activation of FCI Mendota. Although the budget request proposed the full activation of these facilities in fiscal year 2010, BOP has stated that various delays will prevent their full activation as scheduled. The amounts provided by the conference agreement for these activations are based on BOP’s most current estimates of the maximum amount it could obligate in fiscal year 2010. The conferees direct BOP to provide to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, within 30 days of enactment of this Act, an updated construction and activation schedule for new BOP facilities, and to notify formally the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations of any deviations from this schedule, including detailed explanations of the causes of delays and actions proposed to address them.

Federal Prison System population.—The conferees urge the Department and BOP to consider evidence-based policy changes that BOP could make under its current statutory authorities that would help it responsibly manage its offender population while reducing recidivism, improving public safety, and reducing future costs to the American taxpayer. In addition, the conferees direct the National Institute of Corrections to estimate the effects of potential reforms on the Federal prison population, and to provide a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations describing those estimated effects by September 30, 2010.

Inmate reentry and Second Chance Act implementation.—The conference agreement includes $13,778,000 for BOP’s Inmate Skills Development initiative and other Second Chance Act activities, as proposed by the Department. Because BOP has indicated that approximately $75,000,000 is required to implement fully its Second Chance Act responsibilities, the conferees expect the Department to propose significant additional funding for this purpose in the fiscal year 2011 budget request, including significant additional funding for the enhanced use of Residential Reentry Centers (RRC) as part of a comprehensive prisoner reentry strategy. The conferees also urge BOP to make appropriate use of home confinement when considering how to provide reentering offenders with up to 12 months in community corrections. In addition, the conferees direct BOP to report quarterly on the average length of stay in community corrections, differentiated by average lengths of stay in RRCs and home confinement.

Within the amount provided for salaries and expenses, the conference agreement provides sufficient resources to allow BOP to meet the drug abuse treatment needs of all eligible inmates, as required by law. The conferees direct BOP to notify immediately the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations if any unforeseen factors are expected to prevent BOP from meeting this requirement. The conferees expect BOP to make significant progress in filling all authorized staff positions for drug abuse treatment programs and education programs. To the greatest extent possible, BOP shall prioritize the participation of nonviolent offenders in the Residential Drug Abuse Treatment Program (RDAP) in a way that maximizes the benefit of sentence reduction opportunities for reducing the inmate population.

In addition, as part of RDAP, the conferees encourage BOP to conduct a pilot initiative on the use of anti-craving medications as a component of drug abuse treatment. Such an initiative should continue the use of anti-craving medications through an offender's period of confinement in community corrections and period of supervised release. The conferees expect BOP to collaborate on any such initiative with the National Institute of Drug Abuse, which is currently supporting a research study on the effectiveness of anti-craving medication on probationers and parolees.

As part of its portion of the Department's fiscal year 2010 spending plan, BOP shall delineate the funding to be provided for each of its programs and activities related to inmate reentry and Second Chance Act implementation, including inmate drug abuse treatment programs, inmate education and vocational training programs, and all other programs and activities designed to facilitate offender reentry. As part of the fiscal year 2011 budget submission, the conferees direct the Department and BOP to include a detailed description of the coordinated prisoner reentry strategy required by the Second Chance Act, along with the estimated costs of full implementation of that strategy in fiscal year 2011.

In addition, to ensure that BOP is benefiting from outside expertise and viewpoints, the conferees direct BOP to convene an independent panel to make recommendations for future options for the development of prisoner reentry programs, including options related to the role of faith-based and community programs. The report of this panel shall be submitted to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 120 days of enactment of this Act.

The conferees direct GAO to evaluate BOP's strategic approach to budgeting for its inmate reentry programs and activities, including community corrections and programs and activities related to BOP's Second Chance Act responsibilities. GAO shall provide recommendations to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations by June 30, 2010, on how BOP should adapt its budgeting processes to carry out more effectively an inmate reentry strategy and fully implement the provisions of the Second Chance Act that apply to BOP.

Counterterrorism activities.—Within the amount provided, not less than $14,200,000 is for the full estimated cost of BOP's counterterrorism activities, including the monitoring and translation of the communications of incarcerated terrorists and the dissemination of information, as appropriate, to law enforcement agencies. These activities have been partially funded through supplemental appropriations in previous fiscal years.

Sexual misconduct.—Using funds provided in prior fiscal years, the National Institute of Corrections has made useful progress in helping State and local correctional systems throughout the country reduce staff sexual misconduct with inmates. By providing training in investigating cases and training the "trainers," NIC is helping to ensure that employees at every level will be more aware of, and better prepared to deal with, these cases.

At the Federal level, a September 2009 report by the Department's Office of the Inspector General (OIG) found that BOP has not established appropriate goals and oversight mechanisms for its programs to prevent and respond to sexual abuse of inmates by staff. In addition, the OIG report found that BOP's staff training programs need to be updated, that some inmate victims have not been referred for psychological and medical assessments, and that officials at some BOP facilities have implemented policies to safeguard prisoners, such as segregation and transfer, which may serve as a disincentive for some prisoners to report abuse. The OIG report makes several recommendations designed to address these and other issues, upon which the conferees urge BOP to act as soon as possible.

Administrative Maximum United States Penitentiary.—The conferees direct BOP to ensure that the Administrative Maximum United States Penitentiary, also known as "Supermax," has adequate funding to retain staff levels necessary to provide strict oversight of prisoner activities and communications; ensure the safety of prison staff; and make needed upgrades to its security infrastructure.

Reimbursement for U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement detainees.—The conferees direct the Attorney General to work cooperatively with the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security to transfer expeditiously ICE detainees who are currently housed in the Federal Prison System, or to obtain prompt and fair reimbursement from U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement for the costs of incarcerating them.

National Institute of Corrections.—To address deficiencies identified by the U.S. Census Bureau in the reporting of inmate address information, the conferees encourage the National Institute of Corrections to work with State corrections agencies to develop better procedures and systems for collecting and maintaining corrections records.

Stun lethal fences.—BOP correctional officers have expressed concerns about the use of "stun lethal" fences at BOP facilities in lieu of correctional officers in perimeter towers. The conferees direct BOP to submit a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, within 120 days of enactment of this Act, on the reliability and effectiveness of these fences.

Incarceration of low security criminal alien offenders.—The conferees direct BOP to submit a report, within 120 days of enactment of this Act, on its long term strategy for minimizing the cost of incarcerating low security criminal alien offenders, including an assessment of the potential for closed military facilities, closed State prisons, or other existing facilities to be converted to low security prisons operated by BOP.

BUILDINGS AND FACILITIES

The conference agreement provides $99,155,000 for fiscal year 2010 for the construction, modernization, maintenance, and repair of prison and detention facilities housing Federal inmates.

Modernization and repair.—Of the total amount provided for Buildings and Facilities, not less than $73,769,000 is for modernization and repair (M&R) activities. The conferees direct BOP to provide a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, within 30 days of enactment of this Act, itemizing all pending M&R projects for Federal prison facilities, specifying when each project was first identified and estimating the cost associated with each project. The conferees also direct BOP to provide an updated M&R backlog list as part of its fiscal year 2011 budget request. In addition, the conferees expect the Department to propose sufficient funding in the fiscal year 2011 budget proposal to begin to address seriously BOP's M&R backlog.

Construction.—The Department is expected to ensure that the fiscal year 2011 budget proposal for BOP contains sufficient resources for BOP to, at a minimum, stay on track with its current plan to construct and activate new prisons.

LIMITATION ON ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES, FEDERAL PRISON INDUSTRIES, INCORPORATED

The conference agreement provides a limitation on administrative expenses of $2,700,000 for Federal Prison Industries, Incorporated.

The Department is urged to explore new program models, and to seek new funding and authorities, as necessary, to create additional inmate work and training programs that prepare inmates for successful reentry into the community. The Department shall submit to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, within 120 days of enactment of this Act, a plan describing such options for increasing inmate work opportunities.

STATE AND LOCAL LAW ENFORCEMENT ACTIVITIES

In total, the conference agreement provides $3,706,959,000 for State and local law enforcement and crime prevention grant programs for fiscal year 2010, an increase of $479,859,000 above the fiscal year 2009 funding level. The conferees direct the Department to work closely with recipients of congressionally-designated funding to ensure that funded projects are consistent with authorized criminal justice purposes and goals, and to provide appropriate management and oversight of each grant. No administrative overhead costs shall be deducted from funding for congressionally-designated projects. In addition, no grant funding shall be used for luxury items, real estate, or construction projects.

OFFICE ON VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN

Note.—The conference agreement does not provide funding through OVW for programs requested in the President's budget that were funded through this account in fiscal year 2009 but are administered by the Office of Justice Programs (OJP). For fiscal year 2010, funding for each of these OJP-administered programs is appropriated directly to OJP at the fiscal year 2009 level. For programs administered by OVW, the total is an increase of $29,500,000 above the fiscal year 2009 funding level.

Several programs requested in the budget that received funding through this appropriation in fiscal year 2009 are funded under the conference agreement through the Office of Justice Programs (OJP) because they are administered by OJP. These include: the CASA Special Advocates program; the Training for Judicial Personnel program; the Stalking Database program; the Research on Violence Against Women program; and Training Programs to Assist Probation and Parole Officers. The conference agreement provides funding through OJP for each of these programs at the fiscal year 2009 level. For grants and programs administered directly by OVW, the conference agreement provides $29,500,000 more than the budget request and the fiscal year 2009 level.

Violence Against Women Act programs.—Domestic violence, sexual assault, dating violence and stalking are crimes of epidemic proportions that impact millions of individuals and every community in the United States. For 15 years, Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) programs have supported community efforts around the Nation to respond effectively to domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking, and dating violence. In the 109th Congress, Congress unanimously passed a VAWA reauthorization to continue successful programs and create targeted new programs to address gaps in prevention services and better meet the needs of youth, native women, communities of color, and victims of sexual violence. In light of the frequent connection between violence against women and a variety of social ills, such as homelessness and substance abuse, the VAWA reauthorization also sought to address housing, healthcare, criminal justice, employment and other social needs of victims. Because violence against women is often associated with other types of crime, such as gang violence, child abuse, and trafficking, the Department and OVW are encouraged to work together to address the intersection of these crimes.

Addressing violence against Native women.—While it is estimated that American Indian women are victimized at more than double the rate of any other population of women in the United States, not a single comprehensive study of rates of violence against this group has been conducted. In addition, the lack of a tribal protection order and sex offender registry prevents tribes from accessing information that could prevent future violence. Through OVW and the Office of Justice Programs, the conference agreement includes funding to document the extent and nature of violence against Native women and to establish a tribal registry to enhance enforcement of tribal protection orders and the monitoring of sex offenders.

Safe start.—Funding requested through OVW for the Safe Start program is not provided through OVW because Safe Start is administered by the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, within the Office of Justice Programs. The conference agreement instead recommends funding for Safe Start through the Juvenile Justice appropriation.

Jessica Gonzales victim assistance program.—Support for victim assistants who act as liaisons between local law enforcement agencies and victims of domestic and dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking remains an eligible purpose under the STOP Violence Against Women formula grant program.

Training, technical assistance, research and statistics.—As part of the Department's spending plan for fiscal year 2010, OVW shall provide details on its planned training and technical assistance (T&TA) activities and research and statistics activities. The spending plan shall differentiate those activities performed via grant, cooperative agreement, interagency agreement, under contract, and performed directly by OVW. As part of the fiscal year 2011 budget submission, the conferees direct OVW to provide similar details on its planned T&TA activities and research and statistics activities for fiscal year 2011.

Management and administration.—The conference agreement maintains the salaries and expenses account structure established in the fiscal year 2009 Act to fund the management and administrative costs of OVW and other Justice Department grant programs. No administrative overhead costs shall be deducted from the programs funded from this account.

OFFICE OF JUSTICE PROGRAMS

Training, technical assistance, research and statistics.—The Office of Justice Programs (OJP), as part of the Department's spending plan for fiscal year 2010, shall provide details of its planned training and technical assistance (T&TA) activities and research and statistics activities. The spending plan shall differentiate those activities performed via grant, cooperative agreement, interagency agreement, under contract, and performed directly by OJP. In addition, the conferees direct OJP, as part of the Department's fiscal year 2011 budget submission, to provide details of its planned T&TA activities and research and statistics activities for fiscal year 2011.

Evidence-based programs.—To the greatest extent practicable, OJP shall ensure that competitive grants are used for evidence-based programs and activities.

Services for victims of rape.—An estimated one in six women in the United States will experience a sexual assault in her lifetime, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation ranks rape as the second most violent crime, second only to murder. The Department of Justice is encouraged to continue supporting programs, including hotline programs, which facilitate the delivery of confidential recovery services to rape victims.

JUSTICE ASSISTANCE

The conference agreement provides $235,000,000 for Justice Assistance programs for fiscal year 2010, as follows:

Program	Conference
National Institute of Justice .....	$48,000,000
Bureau of Justice Statistics .....	60,000,000
State Automated Victim Notification System .....	12,000,000
Regional Information Sharing System (RISS) ..	45,000,000
Missing and Exploited Children .....	70,000,000
Total .....	235,000,000

Regional information sharing.—Within the amount provided for RISS, funds shall be available to support existing local-to-local law enforcement data and information sharing efforts focused on solving routine crimes, especially in rural areas, by sharing law enforcement information not categorized as criminal intelligence. Funded projects will conform with national standards, priorities, and goals articulated by the Bureau of Justice Assistance.

Missing and exploited children.—The conference agreement does not prescribe a distribution of funds for missing and exploited children programs, except that $30,000,000 shall be available for the Internet Crimes Against Children Task Force program. BJA shall provide a plan for the use of the remainder of the funds to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations as part of the Department's fiscal year 2010 spending plan.

National Institute of Justice.—Within the amount provided for the National Institute of Justice (NIJ), $5,000,000 is for forensics and DNA, including $1,000,000 to support the continued development of standards and standard reference materials at the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) Office of Law Enforcement Standards to maintain quality and proficiency within Federal, State, and local crime laboratory facilities. NIJ shall provide to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations a plan for the use of the remainder of NIJ's appropriation as part of the Department's fiscal year 2010 spending plan.

Hate crimes.—The conferees direct BJA to assess the feasibility and associated costs of establishing a national helpline for victims of hate crimes. In addition, the conferees direct NIJ to evaluate trends in hate crimes against new immigrants, individuals who are perceived to be immigrants, and Hispanic-Americans, and to assess the underlying causes behind any increase in hate crimes against such groups.

Collaboration among State corrections, alcohol and drug abuse, and mental health program directors.—The conferees encourage BJA to continue working with the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration to foster collaboration among the Association of State Corrections Administrators, the National Association of State Alcohol and Drug Abuse Directors, and the National Association of State Mental Health Program Directors.

National missing and unidentified persons system.—The conferees encourage NIJ to continue to support its on-line database containing information about unidentified decedents and missing persons. In addition, as allowable by law and as appropriate, NIJ is encouraged to explore the sharing of data between NIJ's database and other relevant databases, including that of the FBI's National Crime Information Center (NCIC), to better facilitate the identification of unidentified decedents and missing persons.

Edward Byrne memorial justice assistance grant program.—The conference agreement provides $519,000,000 for activities under the Edward Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant (JAG) program. When excluding one-time fiscal year 2009 costs for reimbursement to State and local governments for security and other expenses related to the presidential transition and inauguration, the funding level for this account is equal to the fiscal year 2009 level and the request. Within the amount provided, $3,000,000 is for intelligence training for State and local law enforcement entities and $5,000,000 is for the National Institute of Justice to help local units of government identify, select, develop, modernize, and purchase new technologies for use by law enforcement. Except for the activities noted above, the conference agreement does not provide funding under this heading for activities proposed under this heading in the House or Senate Committee reports.

Crime reporting transition rule.—The September 30, 2008, expiration of the crime reporting "transition rule" established by 42 U.S.C. 3755(d)(2)(B) resulted in approximately 1,000 communities falling out of eligibility for Byrne-JAG direct local awards. A number of these communities have high crime rates and many were reportedly unaware that, effective October 1, 2008, compliance with State crime reporting requirements no longer ensured compliance with Byrne-JAG reporting requirements. The conferees encourage these communities to come into compliance with current Byrne-JAG reporting requirements and direct the Department of Justice to collect, process, and validate reporting information as expeditiously as possible in order to ensure the future eligibility of these communities.

Byrne discretionary grants.—The conference agreement provides $185,268,000 for Byrne discretionary grants to prevent crime, improve the criminal justice system, provide victims' services, and other related activities. The following table details funding for congressionally designated projects, which the bill incorporates by reference:

Byrne competitive grants.—The conference agreement includes $40,000,000 for competitive, peer-reviewed grants to programs of national significance to prevent crime, improve the administration of justice or assist victims of crime. The conferees do not concur with recommendations in the Senate Committee report for allocating these funds for particular programs, projects or activities. OJP shall submit a plan, within 120 days of enactment of this Act, detailing the criteria and methodology that will be used to award grants. The conferees expect national programs that have previously received funding under the Byrne discretionary program or the Juvenile Justice Part E program, and programs for which specific funding is designated in this Act, to be eligible to compete for funding under this competitive grant program.

State criminal justice reform and recidivism reduction.—The conference agreement provides $10,000,000 for technical assistance, incentive grants, and other activities in support of comprehensive, evidence-based criminal justice reform and recidivism reduction efforts by States.

John R. Justice grants.—The conference agreement provides $10,000,000 pursuant to section 952 of Public Law 110-315, which authorizes student loan repayment assistance for State and local prosecutors and public defenders, as well as Federal public defenders, to complement existing student loan repayment options for Federal prosecutors. The John R. Justice Prosecutors and Defenders Incentive program addresses the serious problems prosecutor and public defender offices across the country face in recruiting and retaining qualified attorneys.

Tribal assistance.—The conferees encourage OJP to assist tribes in building their capacity to plan and develop effective criminal justice programs and initiatives, and to prioritize assistance to tribes with the greatest needs. The conferees also encourage OJP to expand its efforts to provide voluntary training for tribal court officials and judges to promote improvements in tribal judicial systems. In addition, the conferees direct OJP to coordinate with the Bureau of Indian Affairs in the Department of the Interior in developing a priority list for detention facility construction, targeting tribal areas with the greatest need, and to incorporate that priority system into the ranking criteria for detention facility grants.

Victims of trafficking.—The conference agreement includes $12,500,000 for services for U.S. citizens, permanent residents, and foreign nationals who are victims of human trafficking, and for task force activities. OJP shall provide a plan for the use of these funds to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations as part of the Department's fiscal year 2010 spending plan.

Drug courts.—To facilitate the use of State clinical treatment standards, discourage system fragmentation, promote sustainability, and encourage the use of common client level performance and outcomes data, the conferees strongly encourage collaboration between drug courts and State agencies that oversee substance abuse prevention and treatment services.

Justice for all, capital litigation review/wrongful conviction review.—Of the amount provided, $2,500,000 is made available for capital litigation grants to improve the quality of representation and the reliability of verdicts in local and State capital cases through training for prosecutors, defense counsel and trial judges. Also within the amount provided, $3,000,000 is for competitive grants to public and non-profit entities that work to exonerate individuals who have been wrongfully convicted.

Economic, high-tech and cybercrime prevention.—As part of the Department's fiscal year 2010 spending plan, OJP is directed to provide to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations a plan for the use of the funds provided for economic, high tech, and cybercrime prevention grants.

Second Chance Act.—The conference agreement provides $100,000,000 for activities authorized under the Second Chance Act of 2007 (Public Law 110-199) to reduce criminal recidivism, which is $75,000,000 above the fiscal year 2009 enacted level and equal to the request. Of the total, $37,000,000 is for Adult and Juvenile Offender Reentry Demonstration Grants; $10,000,000 is for State, tribal and local reentry courts; $7,500,000 is for family-based substance abuse treatment, including family-based programs for the incarcerated parents of minor children; $2,500,000 is to evaluate and improve education at prisons, jails, and juvenile facilities; $5,000,000 is for technology careers training demonstration grants; $13,000,000 is for offender reentry substance abuse and criminal justice collaboration; $15,000,000 is for grants for mentoring and transitional services, as authorized by Section 211 of Public Law 110-199; and $10,000,000 is for prisoner reentry research. The conference agreement authorizes the Attorney General to waive the matching requirements for Adult and Juvenile Reentry Demonstration Projects grants awarded in fiscal year 2010 based on determinations of fiscal hardship.

National technical assistance and training.—The conferees encourage the Department to support efforts to assist States in the development and use of criminal justice information systems that accelerate the automation of identification processes for fingerprints and other criminal justice data, and which improve the compatibility of State and local law enforcement systems with the FBI's Integrated Automated Fingerprint Identification System.

Solving cold cases with DNA.—The conferees recognize the need of State and local governments for resources to identify, review, investigate and prosecute violent crime cold cases that may be solved using DNA analysis and to locate and analyze biological evidence associated with these cases. Advances in DNA technology and the success of DNA database systems have substantially increased the successful analysis of aged, degraded, limited or otherwise compromised biological evidence. As a result, crime scene samples once thought to be unsuitable for testing may now yield DNA profiles. Additionally, samples that previously generated inconclusive DNA results may now be successfully analyzed using newer methods. The conferees expect both the Office of Justice Programs and the National Institute of Justice to continue supporting State and local law enforcement efforts to investigate and prosecute violent crime cold cases, including those from the civil rights era to support the goals of the Emmett Till Unsolved Civil Rights Crime Act of 2007 (Public Law 110-344).

National Motor Vehicle Title Information System (NMVTIS).—The conferees affirm House report language on the National Motor Vehicle Title Information System, and understand that the Department recently provided fiscal year 2009 funds for NMVTIS to make system enhancements and assist participation by States. The conferees encourage OJP to continue to work with the system operator in fiscal year 2010.

Legal advocacy for crime victims.—The conferees note that a multiyear, national demonstration project, funded through the Office for Victims of Crime (OVC), to improve the capacity of attorneys to represent victims in the enforcement of their rights ended in 2009, and that a preliminary evaluation concluded that the project's clinics "are on the road to fulfilling the intentions of their architects and funders." The conferees strongly encourage OVC to continue to support efforts to provide legal counsel and support services for crime victims, and expand awareness and recognition of victims' rights.

WEED AND SEED PROGRAM FUND

The conference agreement provides $20,000,000 for the Weed and Seed Program for fiscal year 2010.

Youth mentoring grants.—To support the critical work of national, regional and local organizations in nurturing and mentoring at-risk children and youth, the conference agreement provides $100,000,000 for competitive, peer-reviewed youth mentoring grants. Within 60 days of enactment of this Act, OJP is directed to provide a report and spending plan to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations detailing the criteria and methodology that will be used to award these grants. The conferees expect that OJJDP will take all steps necessary to ensure fairness and objectivity in the award of these and future competitive grants. It is expected that national programs that have received funding under the Byrne discretionary grants program or the Juvenile Justice Part E program will be eligible for funding under this competitive grant program, including programs for which specific amounts are designated in this Act.

Safe Start.—The conference agreement provides $5,000,000 for the Safe Start Initiative, which helps prevent and reduce the impact of children's exposure to violence in both the home and the community, as a distinct Juvenile Justice appropriation. The Senate Committee report had proposed funding for this program under the Part B State formula appropriation, while the Department had proposed funding for this program through the Office on Violence Against Women.

Victims of Child Abuse Act.—Within the $22,500,000 provided for Victims of Child Abuse Act programs, the conference agreement designates $5,000,000 for regional children's advocacy centers programs.

Mental health services for youth in foster care.—When developing and implementing programs related to children in foster care or who have been adopted from foster care, OJJDP is encouraged to work with the Administration for Children and Families at the Department of Health and Human Services and non-profit organizations with expertise on the mental health needs of such children.

Child exploitation prevention and interdiction.—The Attorney General is urged to designate a senior departmental official to coordinate the development of a national strategy for child exploitation prevention and interdiction, as directed by the Protect Our Children Act (Public Law 110-401).

PUBLIC SAFETY OFFICER BENEFITS

The conference agreement provides $70,100,000 for Public Safety Officer Benefits programs for fiscal year 2010. Within funds provided, $61,000,000 is for death benefits for survivors, an amount estimated by the Congressional Budget Office that is considered mandatory for scorekeeping purposes. In addition, $9,100,000 is provided, as requested, for disability benefits for public safety officers who are permanently and totally disabled as a result of a catastrophic injury, and for education benefits for the spouses and children of officers who are killed in the line of duty or who are permanently and totally disabled as a result of a catastrophic injury sustained in the line of duty.

COMMUNITY ORIENTED POLICING SERVICES (INCLUDING TRANSFERS OF FUNDS)

Law enforcement technologies and interoperable communications.—The conference agreement provides $170,223,000 for grants for State, local, and tribal law enforcement to develop and acquire effective technologies and interoperable communications that assist in the prevention of and response to crime. COPS is directed to ensure that all equipment funded under this program meets applicable requirements of the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) Office of Law Enforcement Standards (OLES).

Within the funds provided, $1,500,000 shall be transferred to NIST to continue the efforts of OLES in developing a comprehensive suite of minimum standards for law enforcement communications, including the development of conformance and interoperability test standards for the Project 25 Inter-RF-Subsystem Interface (ISSI), Console Interface, and Fixed Station Interface for land mobile radio systems. These funds should also be used to begin the development of standards for emerging technologies such as VoIP applications for public safety operations. In addition, these funds should be used to support the development and implementation of a compliance assessment program to ensure that communications equipment purchased with Federal funds is compliant with existing, applicable standards.

Methamphetamine enforcement and clean-up.—The conference agreement provides $40,385,000 for activities to address public safety and methamphetamine manufacturing, sale, and use in “hot spots.” Within the funds provided, $10,000,000 is for transfer to the Drug Enforcement Administration to assist State, local and tribal law enforcement agencies with the proper removal and disposal of hazardous materials at clandestine methamphetamine labs, including funds for training, technical assistance, a container program, and purchase of equipment. Also within the total is $5,000,000 for tribal methamphetamine enforcement activities. COPS shall consult with tribal governments on the distribution of these funds to ensure that they are targeted to areas with the greatest need.

The accompanying table details funding for congressionally-designated activities related to methamphetamine enforcement, which the bill incorporates by reference:

DNA analysis grants.—The conference agreement provides $161,000,000 for grants to strengthen State and local government DNA collection and analysis systems, which can be vital to successfully prosecuting the guilty and protecting the innocent from wrongful conviction. Within the funds provided, $151,000,000 is for Debbie Smith DNA backlog reduction grants; $5,000,000 is for post-conviction DNA testing grants; and $5,000,000 is for Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner programs.

Bulletproof vests.—Within the amount provided for bulletproof vests, $1,500,000 is for the National Institute of Standards and Technology's Office of Law Enforcement Standards to continue supporting the ballistic and stab-resistant material compliance testing programs.

Child sexual predator elimination/sex offender management.—Of the amount provided for assistance to State, tribal, and local law enforcement to locate, arrest, and prosecute child sexual predators and exploiters, and to enforce sex offender registration laws, $1,000,000 is for the National Sex Offender Public Website and $11,000,000 is for the Office of Sex Offender Sentencing, Monitoring, Apprehending, Registering, and Tracking for sex offender management assistance activities. The conferees expect the Department to target assistance to tribal and other law enforcement entities with the greatest needs.

Child sexual predator elimination grants help State and local law enforcement entities target sexual predators who prey upon children, including convicted sex-offenders who fail to register. Grants to support these efforts should be awarded in a manner that is geographically balanced, facilitates testing the model in various settings, and includes major urban police departments, State and tribal law enforcement agencies, smaller jurisdictions, and regional groupings of agencies. COPS is encouraged to continue coordinating with the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children to assist grant recipients in detecting, apprehending, and prosecuting sex offenders who victimize children.

The conferees support the establishment of coordinated sexual predator elimination efforts in communities across the country, and recommend the appointment of an Assistant U.S. Attorney and a deputy U.S. Marshal in each judicial district to help coordinate the development of a comprehensive, district-wide child sexual predator investigation and prosecution strategy, in consultation with social services providers and partners from Federal, State and local law enforcement agencies.

Community policing development.—The conference agreement provides $12,000,000 for community policing development activities, including training and technical assistance and the Police Integrity Initiative.

Training, technical assistance, research and statistics.—As part of the Department's spending plan for fiscal year 2010, COPS is directed to provide details on its planned training and technical assistance (T&TA) activities and research and statistics activities. The spending plan shall differentiate those activities performed via grant, cooperative agreement, interagency agreement, under contract, and performed directly by COPS. As part of the fiscal year 2011 budget submission, COPS is directed to provide similar details on its planned T&TA activities and research and statistics activities for fiscal year 2011.

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

To achieve greater transparency, efficiency, and accountability in the management, administration and oversight of grant programs administered by the Department of Justice, Congress established a new salaries and expenses account for fiscal year 2009 within State and Local Law Enforcement Activities to fund the management and administration costs of the Department's grant programs. A total of $213,388,000 is provided for salaries and expenses for Department of Justice grant programs for fiscal year 2010, including $139,218,000 for the Office of Justice Programs (OJP); $37,462,000 for the Office of Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS); and $15,708,000 for the Office on Violence Against Women (OVW).

The conferees expect all activities related to the management and administration of grant programs, grants, and cooperative agreements—including activities related to peer review—to be supported with salaries and expenses funding. Training and technical assistance (T&TA) activities and research and statistics activities performed by OJP, OVW, and COPS, or through interagency agreements or under contract for OJP, OVW, and COPS, may be supported with program funds, subject to the submission of details related to these costs in the Department's fiscal year 2010 spending plan.

Within the funds provided, $21,000,000 shall be made available to the Office of Audit, Assessment, and Management (OAAM). The conferees expect OAAM to continue to develop its capacity to evaluate, in coordination with the National Institute of Justice, the effectiveness of programs and projects funded by OJP, OVW, and COPS, using rigorous research and evaluation methods that generate valid evidence on the effectiveness of crime prevention strategies.

GENERAL PROVISIONS—DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

The conference agreement includes the following general provisions for the Department of Justice in this Act:

Section 201 makes available additional reception and representation funding for the Attorney General from the amounts provided in this title.

Section 202 prohibits the use of funds to pay for an abortion, except in the case of rape or to preserve the life of the mother.

Section 203 prohibits the use of funds to require any person to perform or facilitate the performance of an abortion.

Section 204 establishes the obligation of the Director of the Bureau of Prisons to provide escort services to inmates receiving an abortion outside of a Federal facility, except where this obligation conflicts with the preceding section.

Section 205 establishes requirements and procedures for transfer proposals.

Section 206 authorizes the Attorney General to extend an ongoing personnel management demonstration project.

Section 207 extends specified authorities to the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives for undercover operations.

Section 208 prohibits the use of funds for transporting prisoners classified as maximum or high security, other than to a facility certified by the Bureau of Prisons as appropriately secure.

Section 209 prohibits the use of funds for the purchase or rental by Federal prisons of audiovisual equipment, services and materials used primarily for recreational purposes, except for those items and services needed for inmate training, religious, or educational purposes.

Section 210 requires review by the Deputy Attorney General and the Department Investment Review Board prior to the obligation or expenditure of funds for major information technology projects.

Section 211 requires the Department to follow reprogramming procedures prior to any deviation from the program amounts specified in this title or the reuse of de-obligated funds provided in previous years.

Section 212 prohibits the use of funds for A-76 competitions for work performed by employees of the Bureau of Prisons or Federal Prison Industries, Inc.

Section 213 prohibits the use of funds to pay the salary, benefits or expenses of a U.S. Attorney performing dual duties that exempt that U.S. Attorney from established residency requirements.

Section 214 prohibits the use of funds for future phases of the Sentinel program until the AG certifies that work on existing phases has been substantially completed under a validated performance baseline.

Section 215 permits the use of up to one percent of formula grant funds made available to the Office of Justice Programs for research or statistical purposes, and permits the use of up to three percent of funds made available to that office for training and technical assistance.

Section 216 gives the Attorney General authority to waive matching requirements for Second Chance Act adult and juvenile re-entry demonstration projects based on a demonstration of fiscal hardship.

Section 217 makes permanent retention and relocation bonus authorities previously provided to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Section 218 requires the Attorney General to submit quarterly reports to the Inspector General regarding the costs and contracting procedures related to conferences for which the cost to the Federal government is more than $20,000.

Section 219 extends foreign language proficiency pay authorities to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Section 220 provides the Attorney General authority to waive certain reporting requirements for localities applying for Byrne Justice Assistance grants in fiscal year 2010 upon demonstrating that they had met previous reporting requirements and agree to begin to report timely data on part I violent crimes of the Uniform Crime Reports to the Federal Bureau of Investigation by the end of fiscal year 2010.

TITLE III SCIENCE

OFFICE OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY POLICY

The conference agreement provides $7,000,000 for the Office of Science and Technology Policy (OSTP), of which not to exceed $2,500 may be for official reception and representation expenses and rental of conference rooms. The conferees agree with the direction of the House that OSTP, working with NOAA, NASA, NSF, USGS, the Department of Energy, and other federal agencies shall develop a plan for achieving and sustaining Earth observations.

OSTP exists to bring to the President timely recommendations for decisions with substantial scientific and technical content. OSTP must take leadership, particularly when issues involve multiple agencies as they do for climate observations, climate change adaptations, and civil and military environmental observation systems. Specifically, decisions are long past due for the restructuring of NPOESS management and the provision of appropriately increased funding to complete this system deployment, which teeters once again on the brink of crisis. In addition, the Administration is expected to put forward a plan to create a National Climate Service. The Nation needs a capability to gather, synthesize and distribute critical information to regions, States, and local governments as they plan for and adapt to climate change. Both cases require leadership and decision-making, assignment of responsibility for implementation, and oversight of all relevant agencies in achieving the integrated mission.

GLOBE.—The conferees are concerned that the interagency GLOBE program, a hands-on primary and secondary school-based environmental science and education program, does not receive sufficient financial or management support. Accordingly, the conferees provide $3,000,000 within NASA and $3,000,000 within NOAA for the GLOBE program. The conferees direct the Office of Science and Technology Policy to conduct a thorough review of the program and to report within 60 days of enactment of this Act on recommendations to improve the program's viability. The report shall include an examination of the merits of transitioning responsibility for the program from NASA to NOAA. The conferees expect that any recommendations will be incorporated into the fiscal year 2011 budget request.

NATIONAL AERONAUTICS AND SPACE
ADMINISTRATION
AGENCY SUMMARY

The conferees remain concerned about NASA's management of its budget, as well as its financial recordkeeping and reporting. Reports and findings of the General Accounting Office and the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations continue to reveal a pattern of lax fiscal management and oversight, ranging from the administration of enhanced use lease receipts, insufficient evidentiary support for amounts in NASA's budget execution data, improper execution of its authority in the construction program, and increasing numbers of contract awards being protested. Accordingly, the conferees have taken several steps to assist NASA in improving its fiscal management. The conference agreement:

- consolidates all programmatic and institutional construction and environmental compliance and remediation activities into a new account, for which the period of availability is five years;

- subjects annual expenditures planned from the collection of enhanced use lease receipts to an annual appropriations limitation first enacted in fiscal year 2009;

- fully funds center administrative activities in the consolidated Cross Agency Support account, realigning the remaining FTE currently charged to programmatic accounts;

- directs NASA to include in its annual budget justifications the reserve amount assumed by the agency to be necessary for the program and the amount actually proposed for each directorate, theme, program, project and activity, or if the proposed funding level is based on confidence level budgeting, the confidence level assumed in the proposed funding level;

- directs NASA to cooperate fully and to provide timely program analysis and evaluation data to the GAO to permit the GAO to meet the Congressional mandate on major systems reporting;

- directs NASA to include in its monthly financial reports beginning February 1, 2010, and the 15th day of each month thereafter, data on budget authority, outlays, unobligated balances, and recoveries presented by appropriation, theme, program or project for each directorate, theme, program, project and activity, as delineated in the House report;

- directs NASA to include in its fiscal year 2011 budget request and each budget request thereafter an accounting of civil service expense requirements, including FTE estimates, requested for each directorate, theme, program, project and activity; and

- directs NASA to report within 60 days of enactment of this Act on actions the agency will take to improve financial management and to ensure integrity of the procurement process in an effort to reduce increasing numbers of contract award protests.

While the conference report does not adopt the position proposed by the House to limit appropriations available to NASA for one-year while providing an allowance of ten percent for two-years to reflect the research and development nature of the work performed, the conferees will continue to monitor NASA's efforts to improve its obligation rate with commensurate improvements in accrual of costs and outlays to determine if the House's proposal warrants further consideration.

Summary funding provided for NASA is delineated more fully in the table below and in the account summaries.

SCIENCE

The conference agreement provides $4,469,000,000 for science. Funds provided herein are available for two years to conduct and support science research and development activities, including research, development, operations, support and services; maintenance; space flight, spacecraft control, and communications activities; program management; personnel and related costs; travel expenses; purchase and hire of passenger motor vehicles; and purchase, lease, charter, maintenance, and operation of mission and administrative aircraft. Funds for construction of facilities, including repair, renovation of existing facilities, construction of new facilities, facility planning and design, and for environmental compliance and restoration are provided in a separate, new account, as proposed by the House.

Earth science, other missions and data analysis.—The conference agreement provides $201,300,000 for Earth science, other missions and data analysis. An increase of $15,000,000 is provided above the request to advance further the studies of the next two decadal survey missions, the Climate Absolute Radiance and Refractivity Observatory (CLARREO) and the Deformation, Ecosystem Structure, and Dynamics of the Ice (DESDynI).

The conferees are concerned about the limited progress made to date in advancing the Earth science missions identified in the recent decadal survey. In an effort to address the need for Earth science data, the conferees encourage NASA to consider commercial solutions for providing such data and suggest that NASA contract with the National Academies' Space Studies Board to conduct a study of the feasibility of commercially-provided Earth science data.

Climate variables and climate science.—Long-term measurement of selected climate variables is of critical importance for climate science. NASA should provide leadership in demonstrating satellite-based global change measurements that can then be implemented on an operational basis by NOAA and USGS. Given the likely demise in coming years of a number of Earth observing satellites and the NASA cancellation of the second and third copies of the EOS satellites and instruments, NASA, working with NOAA, USGS, and the other agencies of the US Global Change Research Program, is directed to conduct a systematic review of the recommended Decadal Survey implementation architecture, with the focus being to first measure and understand specifically those climate forcings that have the greatest leverage for improving the Nation's climate predictive capabilities significantly over the next 10–12 years. The resulting architecture should include emphasis on NASA's responsibility to develop measurements using new technologies to demonstrate an innovative, affordable climate observing system and improvements to the predictive models resulting from the ensemble of measurements obtained. The resulting architecture must also take into account the time required for NOAA and USGS to obtain appropriations to assume operational responsibility for the measurement once their utility has been demonstrated including consideration of NASA including two copies of each instrument with operational potential. A report outlining this climate-centric architecture shall be delivered to the Committees no later than May 3, 2010.

Scatterometer.—NASA and NOAA are directed to continue joint studies leading to a NOAA request in the fiscal year 2011 budget to build and fly an operational scatterometer to provide sea surface vector wind measurements, as directed by the House.

Earth system science pathfinder, other mission and data analysis.—Within the funds provided for other mission and data analysis, the conferees have provided $25,000,000 for initial costs associated with an orbiting carbon observing (OCO) replacement. In addition, NASA is directed to supplement these funds with not less than $25,000,000 from available Science mission directorate prior year balances to achieve a total program level of not less than $50,000,000 in fiscal year 2010.

Also included within the funds provided for other mission and data analysis, the conference agreement provides $6,000,000 for pre-phase A and pilot initiatives for the development of a carbon monitoring system. Any pilot developed shall replicate State and national carbon and biomass inventory processes that provide statistical precision and accuracy with geospatially explicit associated attribute data for aggregation at the project, county, State and Federal level using a common dataset with complete market transparency, including extraction algorithms and correlation modeling.

Near Earth object observations.—The recommendation includes $5,800,000 for near Earth object observations, an increase of $2,000,000 to support scientific research at the Arecibo Observatory in the fields of climate change and space weather.

GLOBE.—The recommendation includes $3,000,000 for the GLOBE program. The conferees recognize the significant investment NASA has made in GLOBE and direct NASA to support the OSTP review of the program and to work cooperatively with NOAA and NSF on this interagency program.

Planetary science, international lunar network.—The conference agreement provides $15,000,000 for the international lunar network.

Astrophysics, servicing opportunities for science missions.—Funding for this activity has been provided within funds appropriated under the heading "Space Operations".

Astrophysics, exoplanet exploration, other missions and data analysis.—The conference agreement includes the funds requested to enable SIM-lite to continue mission concept, technology and risk reduction efforts.

James Webb space telescope.—The conferees provide the full budget request of $441,400,000 for the James Webb Space Telescope, NASA's next orbiting observatory scheduled to launch in 2014. The conferees are troubled by ongoing cost overruns and inaccurate phasing of reserves that have required the Committees to approve multiple adjustments to Webb's funding levels. These adjustments have totaled $95,000,000 in the last six months alone, and the Committees are aware that additional adjustments may be needed in fiscal year 2010. Before the Committees will consider any further adjustments, NASA shall provide to the Committees a report on the factors contributing to Webb's cost overruns and reserve phasing problems, identifying NASA's plans to address these issues and how it shall prevent such occurrences in the future.

Jupiter system mission.—The conference agreement provides $15,500,000 to study further the Europa Jupiter system mission to address the primary risk to the mission, the energy particle radiation environment of Jupiter, as described in the House report. Included in these funds shall be efforts to assist the science community in responding to the announcement of opportunity for the instruments. The conferees direct NASA within 60 days of enactment to provide a projected full lifetime budget outline for the Europa mission, to include anticipated contributions from foreign partners, and an alternative budget profile that would accelerate the launch to 2018.

Heliophysics, sounding rockets operations.—Within the amounts provided for heliophysics sounding rockets operations, $5,000,000 is provided to continue advanced technology development of small satellites and unmanned aerial systems that have the potential of lowering the costs of space and Earth science missions.

NASA is directed to increase its participation in suborbital missions that provide hands-on experience in STEM education.

Solar probe plus.—The conference agreement includes $40,000,000 for the solar probe plus mission, the highest priority of the decadal survey in heliophysics. The conferees direct NASA to work aggressively to achieve a launch in 2015, and expect future budget requests to accommodate that launch date without jeopardizing other Science missions or programs.

Magnetospheric multiscale (MMS).—The conference agreement provides the budget request of $118,600,000 for the MMS project. NASA is expected to maintain the full complement of science instruments for this mission and achieve a launch in 2014.

Planetary science, technology.—Within the funds provided for planetary science, resources are provided for test and development of thermal protection systems (TPS), such as coal-based carbon foam ablative devices, in future missions to and from Mars and Moon.

General reduction.—The conference agreement assumes a general reduction that may be applied to unobligated balances from prior years and to amounts provided herein. Such reductions shall not be assessed against those activities augmented by the Congress or otherwise addressed by this statement of the managers and shall be presented in NASA's initial operating plan.

AERONAUTICS

The conference agreement provides $501,000,000 for aeronautics. Funds provided herein are available for two years to conduct and support aeronautics research and development activities, including research, development, operations, support and services; maintenance; space flight, spacecraft control, and communications activities; program management; personnel and related costs; travel expenses; purchase and hire of passenger motor vehicles; and purchase, lease, charter, maintenance, and operation of mission and administrative aircraft. Funds for construction of facilities, including repair, renovation of existing facilities, construction of new facilities, facility planning and design, and for environmental compliance and restoration are provided in a separate, new account, as proposed by the House.

Aviation safety.—Within the funds provided for aviation safety, $15,000,000 is included within the aeronautics program to establish a university affiliated research center (UARC) to collaborate with the Dryden National Flight Center to focus on unmanned aircraft systems remote sensing research applications and educational programs.

EXPLORATION

The conference agreement provides $3,746,300,000 for exploration. Funds provided herein are available for two years to conduct and support exploration research and development activities, including research, development, operations, support and services; maintenance; space flight, spacecraft control, and communications activities; program management; personnel and related costs; travel expenses; purchase and hire of passenger motor vehicles; and purchase, lease, charter, maintenance, and operation of mission and administrative aircraft. Funds for construction of facilities, including repair, renovation of existing facilities, construction of new facilities, facility planning and design, and for environmental compliance and restoration are provided in a separate, new account, as proposed by the House.

U.S. human spaceflight plans.—Appointed in June 2009 to conduct an independent review of the ongoing U.S. human spaceflight plans and programs, as well as alternatives, the Review of U.S. Human Spaceflight Plans Committee reported its findings in an October 2009 report. Outlining five broad options for the future of NASA's human spaceflight program, the committee noted that the current U.S. human spaceflight program is on an unsustainable trajectory and that its goals are not matched by financial resources. Given the current budgetary projections, the existing program cannot meet its established timelines and content. The gap in time in which the U.S. is without a human spaceflight capability will be at least six years, and more likely seven under current budgetary projections.

The committee's work raises issues requiring thoughtful consideration by the Administration and the Congress, before the Committees on Appropriations of the House and Senate can recommend detailed funding levels. The conferees note that the Constellation program is the program for which funds have been authorized and appropriated over the last four years, and upon which the pending budget request is based. Accordingly, it is premature for the conferees to advocate or initiate significant changes to the current program absent a bona fide proposal from the Administration and subsequent assessment, consideration and enactment by Congress.

To protect the jurisdiction and prerogatives of the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations and of the Congress generally while providing appropriate flexibility to the Administration in managing a complex research and development program, the conference agreement provides $3,466,400,000 for human exploration architecture development, the same level as the budget request. Changes in budgetary and programmatic requirements for fiscal year 2010 from the original budget request shall be submitted only in the form of a supplemental budget request for fiscal year 2010 and not through an initial operating plan or subsequent updates. Funds are not provided herein to initiate any new program, project or activity, not otherwise contemplated within the budget request and approved by Congress, consistent with section 505 of this Act, unless otherwise approved by the Congress in a subsequent appropriations Act. Funds are also not provided herein to cancel, terminate or significantly modify contracts related to the spacecraft architecture of the current program, unless such changes or modifications have been considered in subsequent appropriations Acts.

The conferees note that the previous Administration failed to request a budget adequate to implement its Vision for Space Exploration while also maintaining a balanced portfolio of science and aeronautics programs, returning the Shuttle to flight after the Columbia accident and completing the International Space Station. Similarly, the current budget submittal for fiscal year 2010 and beyond significantly reduces planned funding for space exploration activities such that human exploration beyond low-Earth orbit is not viable under the fiscal year 2010 budget guideline. As the committee noted, "NASA's budget should match its mission and goals" and "whatever space program is ultimately selected, it must be matched with the resources needed for its execution." It is the expressed hope of the conferees that the Administration will formulate its formal decision soon, submit its recommendation for congressional review and consideration, and budget the necessary resources to meet U.S. spaceflight program funding requirements identified in the Administration's recommendation and congressionally-approved program for space exploration while maintaining a balanced portfolio of science and aeronautics programs.

Within the funds provided for human exploration architecture development, not less than $100,000,000 is provided for continuing investments in heavy-lift cargo launch capability. In addition, within the funds provided for human exploration architecture development, $39,100,000 is provided for commercial cargo activities (COTS A-C), the same level as the budget request.

Microgravity research.—Within the funds provided for exploration technology development, the conference agreement provides $47,000,000 for microgravity research. Not later than 90 days after enactment of this Act, NASA shall submit to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations the planned expenditure of the amounts provided herein for microgravity research.

Technology infusion projects.—The conference agreement provides $219,300,000 for technology infusion projects, within which funds are included for the development of new technologies to include filament wound aluminum metal matrix composite technology for use in cryogenic fuels systems for space vehicles.

General reduction.—The conference agreement assumes a general reduction that may be applied to unobligated balances from prior years and to amounts provided herein. Such reductions shall not be assessed against those activities augmented by the Congress and shall be presented in the initial operating plan.

SPACE OPERATIONS

The conference agreement provides $6,146,800,000 for space operations. The conference agreement designates not more than $3,157,100,000 for Space Shuttle operations, production, research, development and support; not more than $2,317,000,000 for International Space Station operations, production, research, development and support; and not more than $751,500,000 for Space and Flight Support operations, production, research, development and support. Funds provided herein are available for two years to conduct and support space operations research and development activities, including research, development, operations, support and services; maintenance; space flight, spacecraft control, and communications activities; program management; personnel and related costs; travel expenses; purchase and hire of passenger motor vehicles; and purchase, lease, charter, maintenance, and operation of mission and administrative aircraft. Funds for construction of facilities, including repair, renovation of existing facilities, construction of new facilities, facility planning and design, and for environmental compliance and restoration are provided in a separate, new account, as proposed by the House.

Space Shuttle.—The summary report of the Review of U.S. Human Space Flight Plans

Committee noted that the projected flight rate of the Space Shuttle prior to its projected retirement is nearly twice that of the actual flight rate since return to flight after the Columbia accident, stating, "Recognizing that undue schedule and budget pressure can subtly impose a negative influence on safety, the Committee finds a more realistic schedule is prudent. With the remaining flights likely to stretch into the second quarter of 2011, the Committee considers it important to budget for Shuttle operations through that time." Accordingly, the Administration is urged to provide adequate funding for the remaining Shuttle flights in its fiscal year 2011 budget request without reducing other important and ongoing NASA activities.

International Space Station (ISS) operations.—Within the amounts provided for ISS operations, $50,000,000 is provided to continue efforts in the use of next generation of human space flight architecture to service existing and future observatory-class scientific spacecraft as identified in the conference report accompanying division B of Public Law 111-8. The activities to be undertaken shall be a joint project of the space operations, science and exploration mission directorates, and shall include technology demonstrations for both robotic and human servicing capabilities.

Tracking and data relay satellite system.—NASA is directed to report to the Committees on Appropriations of the House and Senate not later than March 15, 2010, on options for accommodating increased mission load to the tracking and data relay satellite system, to include an examination of the feasibility of using off-the-shelf technologies.

The conference agreement does not provide for a competitive grant program for launch infrastructure construction and upgrades at spaceports, as the Senate had proposed.

General reduction.—The conference agreement assumes a general reduction that may be applied to unobligated balances from prior years and to amounts provided herein. Such reductions shall not be assessed against those activities augmented by the Congress or otherwise addressed by this statement of the managers and shall be presented in NASA's initial operating plan.

EDUCATION

The conference agreement provides $182,500,000 for education.

Education activities.—NASA is directed to include in its annual budget justifications the amount within each mission directorate for the past, current and budget year planned for education activities, and the specific purposes for which the funds are requested.

National Space Grant College and Fellowship program.—For this program, the conference agreement provides $45,600,000 to fund 42 states or jurisdictions at $900,000 each and 10 states or jurisdictions at $700,000 each.

Classroom of the Future.—The conference agreement provides $1,000,000 for the Classroom of the Future, as requested.

Educational activities at NASA centers.—The conference agreement provides $7,000,000 for NASA visitor centers for the development of educational activities to be distributed in equal $700,000 increments to each center's visitor center for the development of educational activities. The conferees encourage NASA to make its visitor centers or their proxies available to all students and children up to grade 12 or age 18 on a no-fee basis as such experiences should be integral components of a broad-based STEM education. NASA is further directed to review its educational portfolio to determine how such visitor centers can be better incorporated into NASA's efforts to inspire and educate students at all levels to pursue careers in the fields of science, technology, engineering and mathematics. The findings of such a review and recommendations to improve student visitor experience and accessibility shall be submitted to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations not later than 90 days after enactment of the Act. NASA is directed to avoid implementation of any change to admission costs to any NASA visitor center for children up to grade 12 or age 18.

Earth Knowledge Acquired by Middle School Students (EarthKAM) program.—Funds are provided within informal education to ensure that NASA increases its support for this program.

CROSS AGENCY SUPPORT

The conference agreement includes $3,194,000,000 for cross agency support. Funds provided herein are available for two years for the conduct and support of science, aeronautics, exploration, space operations and education research and development activities, including research, development, operations, support and services; maintenance; space flight, spacecraft control, and communications activities; program management; personnel and related costs; travel expenses; purchase and hire of passenger motor vehicles; and purchase, lease, charter, maintenance, and operation of mission and administrative aircraft. Funds for construction of facilities, including repair, renovation of existing facilities, construction of new facilities, facility planning and design, and for environmental compliance and restoration are provided in a separate, new account, as proposed by the House.

The conference agreement designates within amounts appropriated $2,206,300,000 for center management and operations; $40,000,000 for independent verification and validation activities; and $63,000,000 for congressionally-designated projects which are incorporated by reference. Provisions proposed by the House relating to enhanced use lease receipts have been incorporated, with modifications, under the "Construction and environmental compliance and remediation" appropriation.

The conference agreement provides the budget request for activities of NASA's Chief Engineer to increase direct technical support to high-risk aspects of NASA's missions in order to improve mission success, cost containment and schedule performance across all mission directorates.

NASA is directed to include in its fiscal year 2011 budget request an accounting of civil service salary and expense requirements contained in each program, as directed by the Senate report.

Not later than 60 days after enactment of this Act, NASA is directed to provide a report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations detailing the number of term positions to be funded under the Act, as well as a comparative summary of NASA's use of term positions since 1990.

Small business innovative research (SBIR) and small business technology transfer research (STTR).—While the conference agreement identifies amounts for these activities at the levels requested by the Administration, the conferees note that funding for government-wide SBIR and STTR programs are set by statute at 2.5 percent and 0.3 percent of the agency's extramural research and development program, which has yet to be determined.

Cybersecurity.—The conferees are concerned about recent cyber attacks against NASA and therefore direct NASA to partner with the National Security Agency to assure that NASA networks are secure and that its software verification process includes a rigorous cyber examination process.

General reduction.—The conference agreement assumes a general reduction that may be applied to unobligated balances from prior years and to amounts provided herein. Such reductions shall not be assessed against those activities augmented by the Congress or otherwise addressed by this statement of the managers and shall be presented in NASA's initial operating plan.

Congressionally-designated projects.—Within the appropriation for cross agency support, the conference agreement provides for the following congressionally-directed activities:

CONSTRUCTION AND ENVIRONMENTAL COMPLIANCE AND REMEDIATION

The conference agreement includes an appropriation of $448,300,000 for construction and environmental compliance and remediation. Appropriations are available for five years and shall be available for construction of facilities, including repair, rehabilitation, revitalization, and modification of facilities, construction of new facilities and additions to new facilities, facility planning and design, and restoration, and acquisition or condemnation of real property, as authorized by law, and environmental compliance and restoration. Funds for construction-related labor costs and travel are included within the amounts provided in the Cross Agency Support appropriation. Within this appropriation, the conference agreement designates the following amounts for each of the mission directorates, as shown below:

Science .....	$13,700,000
Exploration .....	90,800,000
Space Operations .....	27,300,000
Cross agency support .....	316,500,000
Institutional investments, construction
of facilities .....	(249,300,000)
Environmental compliance and restoration	(67,200,000)

NASA is directed to provide to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations NASA form 1509 for each CoF project submitted in the annual budget request or an initial operating plan and for each CoF project subject to a reprogramming notification. In addition, NASA is directed within 90 days of enactment of this Act to provide to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations a comprehensive five-year plan detailing in priority order and by center projected facilities infrastructure improvements and construction needs across the NASA complex. The plan shall include current and projected mission assignments by center and how such proposed improvements meet each center's mission objectives.

Leasing authorities and collections.—The conference agreement includes provisions relating to enhanced use leases (EULs): a provision that requires, hereafter, the deposit of all EUL proceeds into the construction account, provides for five-year availability, and subjects all EUL receipts to annual appropriations Acts prior to their availability; a provision that limits to $6,226,000 the expenditure of EUL receipts to the level planned by NASA in its official submission; and a provision that requires each annual budget request to include an annual estimate of gross EUL receipts and proposed uses of such receipts. Similar provisions were proposed by the House under the "Cross Agency Support" appropriation.

NASA is directed to continue its moratorium on any new enhanced use leases until it promulgates and disseminates to the centers and the Committees on Appropriations of the House and Senate its final desk guidance on the administration and execution of the EUL program. In addition, NASA is further directed to submit a separate operating plan by center on the proposed use of all receipts and collections in fiscal year 2010 prior to the expenditure of such funds, and any deviation from such approved plan shall be subject to section 505 of this Act. Lastly, NASA shall submit with its annual budget submission a separate accounting by center of gross receipts and collections and proposed use of all funds collected under its leasing authority. Such material shall include a detailed presentation of all proposed expenditures, to include but not limited to full-time equivalent (FTE) staff years and object class data, minor renovation projects proposed to be undertaken with requested amounts for each project, and justification for such proposed expenditures by project or activity.

OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL

The conference agreement provides $36,400,000 for the Office of Inspector General, which shall be available for one year.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS

The conference agreement contains language regarding the availability of funds for announced prizes.

The conference agreement contains language providing for the transfer of certain amounts between appropriations accounts.

The conference agreement contains language prohibiting any reduction in force or other involuntary separations in fiscal year 2010.

The conference agreement contains language regarding transfers of unexpired balances.

The conference agreement does not include language proposed by the Senate which provided that funding designations and minimum funding requirements contained in any other Act shall not be applicable to funds provided in this Act for NASA.

The conference agreement does not include administrative provisions proposed by the Senate regarding the period of availability of funds allocated for construction and environmental compliance activities within appropriations made for the various mission directorates. The conference agreement provides for a new, separate appropriation for construction and environmental remediation, eliminating the need for the administrative provisions proposed by the Senate.

NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION

The conference agreement includes $6,926,510,000 for the National Science Foundation (NSF), consistent with the on-going effort to double the agency's budget over a ten-year period.

The conferees are concerned with continuity in the level of support for research and development at the National Science Foundation and reiterate concerns expressed by the House that the request for fiscal year 2011 should represent at least a seven percent increase for NSF over the conference agreement level for fiscal year 2010 in order to sustain the planned doubling of the Foundation's budget.

The conferees support House direction to the Foundation to convene a panel of experts to survey pre-K to 12 schools that are highly successful in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) education and submit a report of the findings and recommendations of this panel to the Committees within 180 days of the enactment of this Act.

RESEARCH AND RELATED ACTIVITIES (INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

The conference agreement provides $5,617,920,000 for research and related activities.

The conference agreement transfers $54,000,000 from NSF to the United States Coast Guard (USCG) for icebreaking services to cover all anticipated operation and maintenance costs for fiscal year 2010. The conferees expect that in future years all operation and maintenance budget authority for these USCG icebreakers will be requested by the Department of Homeland Security.

Within the funds provided, the conferees direct NSF to maintain funding at the levels requested for the following activities:

Climate change

Cyber-enabled discovery and innovation

Science and engineering beyond Moore's law

Adaptive systems technology

Dynamics of water processes in the environment

National Radio Astronomy Observatory

In addition, the conferees support House direction on high-risk, high-reward basic research; funding for research on ocean acidification; support for 2,000 graduate research fellowships across all of NSF; climate change education; and funding of EPSCoR. Beyond these requirements, the conferees expect NSF to accommodate the reduction from the request based on its judgment of where funding will be used most effectively.

The conferees support the direction in the Senate report with respect to VORTEX2.

The conferees direct NSF to transfer $100,000 to the National Academy of Sciences as directed by the House.

Hydrology, terrestrial ecosystems and soils.—The conferees see the need for an appropriate mechanism to bring together the hydrology research community and better integrate the different types of data and observing systems and enhance support of hydrology modeling, and to institutionalize this mechanism. The conferees also see the need for an appropriate mechanism to bring together the terrestrial ecology and soils research communities. NSF is directed to report its recommendations on the need for and establishment of mechanisms in these two areas with the budget request for fiscal year 2011.

Gemini telescope.—The conferees recognize that the Gemini international telescope agreement is scheduled for renewal in 2012. The United States currently has a 50 percent share in this project, which originated in 1992, and today includes the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, Brazil, Argentina, and Chile as partners. Given the scientific importance of the Southern Hemisphere Gemini Observatory, NSF is encouraged to continue and, if possible on favorable terms, expand U.S. support in the upcoming renewal negotiations to acquire additional telescope time for NSF investigators.

GLOBE.—The conferees are aware that NSF continues to support the GLOBE program and encourage the agency to continue this support and to work with NASA and NOAA and to support the OSTP review of the program.

EPSCoR.—The conferees request that NSF examine new approaches and innovative efforts within EPSCoR to assist States within the program, including but not limited to, additional co-funding opportunities and EAGER awards, efforts to better ensure participation in new initiatives, and other activities as appropriate.

MAJOR RESEARCH EQUIPMENT AND FACILITIES CONSTRUCTION

The conference agreement provides $117,290,000 for Major Research Equipment and Facilities Construction, and prohibits funds from being used for reimbursement of the Judgment Fund. The agreement supports the following items at the indicated amounts:

Advanced LIGO .....	$46,300,000
Atacama Large Millimeter
Array (ALMA) .....	42,760,000
Advanced Technology
Solar Telescope (ATST) .....	13,000,000
Ocean Observatories Initiative (OOI) .....	14,280,000
Ice Cube .....	950,000

EDUCATION AND HUMAN RESOURCES

The conference agreement provides $872,760,000 for Education and Human Resources. The increase over the budget request is to support additional work in experiential learning as directed by the House with a substantial portion of the initiative focused on K–6 STEM education. The recommendation includes adjustments to the budget request for specific programs, as follows:

Discovery research K–12 ....	+ $10,000,000
Research and evaluation on education in science and engineering .....	+2,500,000
Course, curriculum and laboratory improvement .....	+2,500,000

The conferees direct NSF to provide a report detailing plans to establish a Hispanic Serving Institutions—Undergraduate Program no later than 90 days following enactment of this Act. The conferees expect a significant funding request for such a program to be included in NSF's fiscal year 2011 budget request.

The conferees are concerned that K–12 students need a better foundation in geographic literacy, and direct NSF to work with external partners with experience in geographic education to improve geography teaching, training and research in our Nation's schools.

The conferees support the Foundation's request of $55,000,000 for the Robert Noyce Teacher Scholarship program.

AGENCY OPERATIONS AND AWARD MANAGEMENT

The conference agreement provides $300,000,000 for agency operations and award management.

The conferees recognize that NSF excels at creating and managing external relations, providing valuable financial and professional leadership for the Nation's scientific communities, particularly in the competitive solicitation and award of research and educational grants and fellowships. Internally the agency must do better to provide a safe and productive work environment for all of its employees. The conferees reinforce the need for formal reviews from both the NSF directorate and the Office of Inspector General on the agency's personnel management practices as outlined in the Senate report. In addition, the conferees support the Senate's report language identifying the need to improve grant management and accountability.

OFFICE OF THE NATIONAL SCIENCE BOARD

The conference agreement provides $4,540,000 for the National Science Board. The conferees direct the National Science Board to use the increase of funds above the request for obtaining a General Counsel independent of the National Science Foundation.

OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL

The conference agreement provides $14,000,000 for the Inspector General, the same as the request.

TITLE IV

RELATED AGENCIES

COMMISSION ON CIVIL RIGHTS

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement includes $9,400,000 for the Commission on Civil Rights.

Support of State Advisory Committees (SACs).—The Commission shall submit to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations a biannual report listing the 51 SACs and the expiration date of the most recent charter for each. The report should also include the projected date of re-chartering for those SACs whose most recent charter has expired and a description of the recent activities undertaken by those that do have an active charter.

The conferees urge the Commission to ensure that its regional office staffing plan is coordinated with its charter expansion plan so that newly reinvigorated SACs will have the operational support necessary to succeed.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY COMMISSION

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $367,303,000 for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC).

Backlog reduction.—The conferees urge EEOC to develop and implement a multiyear plan to increase EEOC staffing to the levels necessary to achieve backlog reduction in a timely manner. In the meantime, EEOC shall submit to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations quarterly reports on projected and actual agency staffing levels so EEOC's personnel resources can be better monitored.

Workload projections.—Workload projections should be continually calibrated with actual data as it becomes available through midyear reviews and other means. EEOC shall also ensure that its workload projections account for necessary changes in overtime policy as required by a March 23, 2009 arbitration decision addressing EEOC overtime payments.

Federal sector hearings.—EEOC shall submit to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations within 60 days of the enactment of this Act an implementation plan for the new Federal sector hearing process, including background on the need for these changes, the proposed implementation schedule and an analysis of the potential impact, both positive and negative, on the ability of Federal employees to get a fair hearing under the track system.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE COMMISSION

The conference agreement provides $81,860,000 for the International Trade Commission for fiscal year 2010.

LEGAL SERVICES CORPORATION

PAYMENT TO THE LEGAL SERVICES CORPORATION

The conference agreement provides $420,000,000 for the Legal Services Corporation (LSC).

Accountability and oversight.—Over the past three years, GAO, the LSC Inspector General and the Audit Committee of the LSC Board of Directors have issued multiple findings of management and oversight weaknesses at the Corporation. LSC has made a public commitment to address each of these findings, and, as evidenced by recent GAO testimony, has made progress by implementing necessary corrective actions in a number of areas. However, as also evidenced by GAO's testimony, additional work remains to complete the full list of recommended actions.

The conferees have been, and remain, concerned about these gaps in LSC's management and accountability controls, which leave the Corporation vulnerable to improper expenditures or instances of waste by grantees. The timely resolution of these remaining issues must be a Corporation priority. Consequently, the conferees direct the Corporation's President and Chairman of the Board of Directors to report jointly to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations no later than February 1, 2010, to certify that the Corporation has met the requirements for management practices and policies, as well as governance standards and guidelines.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISION—LEGAL SERVICES CORPORATION

A general provision in Title V of the bill revises the administrative provision in order to permit grantees to pursue the recovery of attorney's fees when recovery is permitted or required under Federal or State law. The conferees believe that this action will level the playing field between legal aid attorneys and their counterparts in the private sector and provide a potentially crucial source of additional revenue to legal aid providers in a year in which State and private funding sources are decreasing.

MARINE MAMMAL COMMISSION

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $3,250,000 for the Marine Mammal Commission for fiscal year 2010.

The Commission is directed to submit a report to Congress prioritizing international research and conservation efforts of marine mammals.

OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES TRADE REPRESENTATIVE

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $47,826,000 for the Office of the United States Trade Representative (USTR) for fiscal year 2010.

World Trade Organization.—The conferees are aware of the World Trade Organization (WTO) Appellate Body's January 16, 2003, ruling regarding the Continued Dumping and Subsidy Offset Act (Public Law 106–387). The conferees direct USTR, in consultation with the Department of Commerce, to continue to negotiate within the WTO to seek express recognition of the existing right of WTO members to distribute monies collected from antidumping and countervailing duties as they deem appropriate. The agency shall consult with and provide regular reports every 60 days to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees on this matter.

In addition, the conferees direct that negotiations be conducted within the WTO consistent with the negotiating objectives contained in the Trade Act of 2002, Public Law 107–210, to maintain strong U.S. trade remedies laws, prevent overreaching by WTO Panels and the WTO Appellate Body, and prevent the creation of obligations never negotiated or agreed to by the United States.

Climate change.—Countries in Southeast Asia are particularly vulnerable to the potentially destructive impacts of climate change. U.S. companies have the capacity to provide valuable expertise and install advanced weather forecasting infrastructure and other reliable technologies addressing climate change adaptation and mitigation. The conferees direct the USTR to report to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations on the status of U.S. company engagement with Southeast Asian nations on these efforts no later than March 30, 2010.

STATE JUSTICE INSTITUTE

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $5,131,000 for the State Justice Institute.

TITLE V

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 501 prohibits the use of funds for publicity or propaganda purposes unless expressly authorized by law.

Section 502 prohibits any appropriation contained in this Act from remaining available for obligation beyond the current fiscal year unless expressly authorized.

Section 504 provides that if any provision of this Act or the application of such provision to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of the Act and the application of such provisions to persons or circumstances other than those to which it is held invalid shall not be affected.

Section 505 provides for the reprogramming of funds. Section 505(a) prohibits the reprogramming of funds which: (1) creates or initiates a new program, project or activity; (2) eliminates a program, project, or activity, unless the Appropriations Committees of both Houses of Congress are notified 15 days in advance; (3) increases funds or personnel by any means for any project or activity for which funds have been denied or restricted, unless the Appropriations Committees of both Houses of Congress are notified 15 days in advance; (4) relocates offices or employees, unless the Appropriations Committees of both Houses of Congress are notified 15 days in advance; (5) reorganizes or renames offices, programs or activities, unless the Appropriations Committees of both Houses of Congress are notified 15 days in advance; (6) contracts out or privatizes any function or activity presently performed by Federal employees, unless the Appropriations Committees of both Houses of Congress are notified 15 days in advance; (7) proposes to use funds directed for a specific activity by either the House or Senate Committees on Appropriations, unless the Appropriations Committees of both Houses of Congress are notified 15 days in advance; (8) augments funds for existing programs, projects or activities in excess of $500,000 or 10 percent, whichever is less, or reduces by 10 percent funding for any existing program, project, or activity, or numbers of personnel by 10 percent as approved by Congress, unless the Appropriations Committees of both Houses of Congress are notified 15 days in advance; or (9) results from any general savings, including savings from a reduction in personnel, which would result in a change in existing programs, activities, or projects as approved by Congress, unless the Appropriations Committees of both Houses of Congress are notified 15 days in advance. Section 509 provides that any closing or downsizing costs incurred by a department or agency funded under this Act resulting from funding reductions in the Act shall be absorbed within the budgetary resources available to the Department or agency, and provides transfer authority between appropriation accounts to carry out the provision, subject to reprogramming procedures.

Section 510 prohibits funds made available in this Act from being used to promote the sale or export of tobacco or tobacco products or to seek the reduction or removal of foreign restrictions on the marketing of tobacco products, provided that such restrictions are applied equally to all tobacco products or tobacco products of the same type. This provision is not intended to impact routine international trade services to all U.S. citizens, including the processing of applications to establish foreign trade zones.

Section 511 prohibits funds made available in this Act from being used to implement a Federal user fee for background checks conducted pursuant to the Brady Handgun Control Act of 1993, or to implement a background check system that does not require and result in the destruction of certain information within 24 hours.

Section 512 delays the obligations of any receipts deposited into the Crime Victims Fund in excess of $705,000,000 until October 1, 2010. This language is continued to ensure a stable source of funds will remain available for the program, despite inconsistent levels of criminal fines deposited annually into the Fund.

Section 513 prohibits the use of Department of Justice funds for programs that discriminate against or denigrate the religious beliefs of students participating in such programs.

Section 514 prohibits the transfer of funds in the Act to any department or agency of the United States Government, except for transfers made under authorities provided in this or any other appropriations Act.

Section 532 modifies a provision included by the House regarding detainees from Guantanamo Bay.

Section 533 permits LSC grantees to pursue the recovery of attorney's fees when permitted or required by law.

The conference agreement does not contain a provision proposed by the House authorizing the Attorney General to provide qualified relocation expenses.

TITLE VI

ADDITIONAL GENERAL PROVISIONS

The conference agreement does not include an appropriation for the Office on Violence Against Women as proposed by the House. Appropriations for this activity are provided in Title II of this Act.

DISCLOSURE OF EARMARKS AND CONGRESSIONALLY DIRECTED SPENDING ITEMS

Following is a list of congressional earmarks and congressionally directed spending items (as defined in clause 9 of rule XXI of the rules of the House of Representatives and rule XLIV of the Standing Rules of the Senate, respectively) included in the conference report or the accompanying joint statement of managers, along with the name of each Senator, House Member, Delegate, or Resident Commissioner who submitted a request to the Committee of jurisdiction for each item so identified. Neither the conference report nor the statement of managers contains any limited tax benefits or limited tariff benefits as defined in the applicable House or Senate rules. Pursuant to clause 9(b) of rule XXI of the rules of the House of Representatives, none of the congressional earmarks listed below were committed to the conference committee on H.R. 3288. However, all the following items were either (1) included in the Commerce, Justice, Science and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2010 (H.R. 2847) as passed by the House or Senate, or (2) in a report of the committee of either House on H.R. 2847.

DIVISION C—FINANCIAL SERVICES AND GENERAL GOVERNMENT APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2010

References in this statement to the Senate bill are to the bill (S. 1432) as reported to the Senate by the Committee on Appropriations on July 9, 2009 (S. Rept. 111-43). References to the House bill are to the bill (H.R. 3170) as passed by the House on July 16, 2009 (H. Rept. 111-202).

Language included in House Report 111-202 or Senate Report 111-43 that is not changed by this joint explanatory statement is approved by the committee of conference. This explanatory statement, while repeating some report language for emphasis, is not intended to negate the language in the referenced House and Senate committee reports unless expressly provided herein.

Where the House or Senate has directed submission of a report, that report is to be submitted to the Committees on Appropriations of both the House of Representatives and the Senate.

TITLE I

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

DEPARTMENTAL OFFICES

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

(INCLUDING TRANSFERS OF FUNDS)

The conference agreement provides $304,888,000 for departmental offices salaries and expenses, instead of $303,388,000 as proposed by the House and $305,712,000 as proposed by the Senate.

For the activities under this heading, the conference agreement provides the following funding levels:

Executive Direction .....	$21,983,000
Economic Policies and Programs .....	47,249,000
Financial Policies and Programs .....	48,580,000
Terrorism and Financial Intelligence .....	64,611,000
Treasury-wide Management .....	22,679,000
Administration .....	99,786,000

Within the Financial Policies and Programs budget activity, the conference agreement provides an increase of $1,000,000 above the amount assumed in the budget request for the Department's Office of Financial Education. The Department is directed to target this increase toward further financial education efforts aimed at elementary and high schools, as well as efforts to enhance other financial education efforts, including support for the revision of the national strategy on financial literacy and the development of measurable goals and objectives for the Financial Literacy and Education Commission.

Within the funding provided for economic policies and programs: (1) $1,500,000 is provided for a comprehensive carbon audit of the Internal Revenue Code, as proposed by both the House and the Senate and as authorized by Public Law 110-343, division B, section 117; and (2) $1,000,000 is provided for a study on the long-term economic effects of the aging population in the United States, as proposed by the Senate.

The conference agreement includes a provision allowing the Department to transfer up to 4 percent of funds available between budget activities upon notification of the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations. Transfers in excess of 4 percent may be made upon approval of the Committees on Appropriations.

Department Responsiveness.—The conferees are dissatisfied with the responsiveness of the Department of the Treasury to questions and requests for information from the House and Senate Appropriations Committees. For example, the Department did not submit to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations the responses to questions for the record in connection with the Treasury Department fiscal year 2010 budget hearings until several months after the hearings. Questions for the record are submitted to inform the Committees and increase their knowledge of the Administration's activities, ultimately improving the bills enacted into law. The conferees expect that the responsiveness of the Department of the Treasury will dramatically improve from this point forward.

Economic Sanctions and Divestments.—The conferees direct the Department to fully implement the sanctions and divestment measures applicable to North Korea, Burma, Iran, Sudan, and Zimbabwe. The Department is further directed to promptly notify the Appropriations Committees of any resource constraints that adversely impact the implementation of these sanctions programs.

Illegal Garnishment of Federal Benefits.—The conferees reiterate the Senate report language regarding the illegal garnishment of Federal benefits by third-party collectors and direct the Department to provide a written report to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees, within 15 days of enactment of this Act, on the progress in creating guidelines to prevent this illegal garnishment.

Financial and Economic Stabilization Efforts.—Given the ongoing need to provide stability to the economic and financial system, along with the billions of dollars in taxpayer funds that have been put at risk in the process, the conferees take very seriously the obligation of the Appropriations Committees to continue to exercise vigorous oversight over all of the Department's efforts in these areas. The conferees reiterate the associated detailed reporting requirements contained in House Report 111-202. The conferees direct the Department to ensure that the stabilization efforts are administered soundly and efficiently in order to minimize risks to the taxpayer. The Department is additionally directed to ensure that these efforts do not hamper the Department's other critical missions. Further, the conferees reiterate the Senate language directing the Department to: (1) develop a more effective strategy for communicating with Congress, the public, and other stakeholders with regard to economic and financial stabilization efforts, as recommended by the Government Accountability Office (GAO), (2) pursue more detailed reporting from entities receiving Troubled Asset Relief Program (TARP) funds, and (3) provide a monthly report on the number and value of foreclosures prevented to date under Treasury programs.

DEPARTMENT-WIDE SYSTEMS AND CAPITAL INVESTMENTS PROGRAMS

(INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

The conference agreement provides $9,544,000 for systems and capital investments as proposed by both the House and the Senate.

OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The conference agreement provides $29,700,000 for the Office of Inspector General as proposed by both the House and the Senate.

TREASURY INSPECTOR GENERAL FOR TAX ADMINISTRATION
